REDS RENEW DRIVE IN FAR NORTH

Mine Workers Act On Wage, Hour Demands

EXPECT UNION TO PUSH FOR 30-HOUR WEEK

Guarantee of 200 Working Days Each Year Also Looms as Convention Resolution.

ADJOURNMENT IN SIGHT

Leaders Believe Delegates Will Leave Today Unless Arguments Develop.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS — Resolutions demanding higher pay and shorter hours in the bituminous and anthracite coal industries come before the United Mine Workers golden jubilee convention today.

The 2,400 delegates were expected to reaffirm a demand for a 30-hour work week, and refer all wage and other contract demands of local unions to the scale committee with instructions to obtain the best possible agreement with the operators in both industries.

Members now work a 7-hour-day, 35-hour-week with a $6 minimum daily wage in the north and $5.60 in the south.

Union officers believed that an adjournment late today was possible, although extended debate on any of the remaining issues might keep the convention in session until tomorrow.

A perennial resolution demanding a guarantee of 200 working days per year, a minimum wage of $1,200 in the north and $1,120 in the south, was expected from local unions. This demand was presented to the operators in 1939 without success.

Pledges for 'Liberal'

The convention yesterday pledged itself to seek election of a "liberal" presidential candidate to carry the New Deal forward after 1940 after 90 minutes of debate on the question of shelving 47 local union resolutions demanding endorsement of President Roosevelt for a third term.

The miners did not endorse any candidate, leaving that up to the union's executive board in accordance with recommendations of President John L. Lewis, who favors Senator Burton K. Wheeler, D., Mont.

Secretary-Treasurer Thomas Kennedy defended the union's dues, assessments and fiscal policies as the constitution was re-

Bank Clearings In January Up Million Dollars Over 1939

Mansfield's bank clearings started the new year over a million dollars ahead of January, 1939, Barney Burns, secretary of the Clearing House association, reported today.

Clearings for the first month of the new year totaled $7,918,696, a gain of more than a million dollars over the corresponding month last year and $116,000 ahead of the December clearings.

Reflecting a decided increase in a month when business usually drops off following the holidays, the January clearings forecast a marked uptrend in Mansfield's business for the year.

While the payment of Christmas bills last month was seen as a contributing factor in the increase, the figures were still well ahead of 1939 when January clearings showed only a slight increase.

Dizzy Barrymore Opening Leaves Broadway Agog

John Barrymore's "opening night" in New York last night was the occasion for a near clash between the actor's estranged wife, Elaine, above at right, and his daughter, Diana. The dressing room friction was dispelled however and Barrymore went on with the show.

Actor's Estranged Wife and His Daughter Come Close to Blows.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—Things were still not quite normal on Broadway today following the return of the "great profile" after an absence of 17 years.

The "great profile" is, of course, John Barrymore, and the opening of his play on Broadway last night was a typically hectic Barrymore opening.

Among the things that weren't in the script were near-fisticuffs between Elaine Barrie, John's estranged wife, and Diana, his daughter, and an over-ambitious jobless actor who rushed onto the stage clad in Hamlet's tights in the hopes of impressing Barrymore with his histrionic ability.

Elaine, clad in shimmering gold mesh and a red fox cape, swept into Barrymore's dressing-room to which he had retired slightly unnerved by the amateur Hamlet. In the dressing room were Diana, his daughter by his marriage to Michael Strange, Jack Colt, a son of John's sister, Ethel Barrymore, and several young socialites.

It was only after she had cooled her heels for a half-hour while the management conferred with John to determine whether she was persona grata that Elaine entered. And when she stormed in, the others quickly exited.

Excited conversation was heard in the room, dealing mainly with Elaine's replacement in the play by Doris Dudley.

After three vain attempts to enter the dressing room, Diana became enraged.

Well, if it comes to blows, it will come to blows," she snapped. "I'm willing to fight it out with her."

Soon, however, Barrymore and Elaine both emerged and notwithstanding their argument, both were smiling.

"It was a very friendly visit," said John. "I was delighted to see her but there is no chance at reconciliation."

There was further trouble at a night club when Elaine thrust herself between John and his

Vandenberg Offers Bill To Kill Trade Pact Plan

Michigan Senator Would Create Foreign Trade Board to Replace New Deal's Reciprocal Agreements.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg (R., Mich.) introduced in the senate today a bill to create a foreign trade board that would kill the New Deal's reciprocal trade agreements program.

"My proposed board to handle commercial and financial relations with foreign countries," Vandenberg said, "suggests an answer to those who insist that there is no middle ground between 'congressional log-rolling' and the reciprocal trade agreements program."

Sets Up 6-Member Board.

Vandenberg's bill would abolish the United States tariff commission and set up a new, six-member foreign trade board to:

1. Keep tariffs in constant adjustment to competitive costs of production.
2. Possess power to encourage and finance exports and imports "through barter agreements and otherwise."
3. Raise and lower tariffs.
4. Take "direct action against blocked exchange."
5. Co-ordinate foreign trade and financial statistics.

6. Recommend to the president imposition of import duties and other restrictions against cheap foreign agricultural products which sell at less than parity prices (those prevailing from August 1909 to July 1914) or below American cost of production.

The chairman of the proposed board would receive a salary of $12,000; the other five members $10,000 each.

Vandenberg said that the board would be subjected only to the general direction of the president and congress, and not subordinated to the state department "which specializes in political and diplomatic contacts and is not equipped to handle domestic commercial and financial problems."

BLAZE TRAPS 7

All in Family Perish as Flames Destroy Home.

FREEPORT, Pa.—(U.P.)—Trapped in their bedrooms, a family of seven was burned to death today when fire destroyed a two-story frame dwelling here.

The victims were Omar Brown, 38, his wife, Marian, 35, and their children, Betty Lou, 16, Helen, 14, Omar, jr., 12, Thomas, 10, and Joseph, 8.

Starting shortly after 1 a. m., the fire quickly mushroomed through the wood structure and the house was a mass of flames when firemen arrived, balking any would-be rescue attempt.

Bodies of the victims were found in three different rooms on the second floor of the building.

Mr. Roosevelt named Eccles for a term expiring Jan. 31, 1944. This was accomplished through a trade of board terms between Eccles and Chester C. Davis.

16,000 ELIGIBLE

Election Board Closes Books for Special Primary.

Approximately 16,000 Mansfielders were eligible today to vote in the special 17th district congressional primary next Tuesday.

The board of elections closed its registration books last night with slightly more than 200 registrations handled in the past week. Forty registrations and 70 transfers were received yesterday by the board.

Only 11 applications for sick and absentee ballots had been received today with Saturday noon set as the deadline for obtaining the ballots.

Registrations and requests for ballots are far below the usual primary figures, indicating a light vote next Tuesday, election officials said.

ALLOTS COUNTY 13 DELEGATES

State Republican Committee Gets Ready for State and National Conventions.

Richland county was alloted 13 delegates and 13 alternates to the Republican state convention by the state central committee which met in Columbus yesterday. At the same session the committee approved a slate of delegates to the party's national convention pledged to U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati as Ohio's "favorite son" candidate for the presidential nomination.

The committee alloted delegates and alternates to the Republican state convention on the basis of one each for each 1,000 votes cast for Gov. Bricker at the 1938 election, thus providing for 1,260 delegates and the same number of alternates from the 88 counties.

The number ranged from 153 for Cuyahoga county to only two from the solidly-Democratic Holmes county. Convention dates have not yet been set.

Ralph Hardy, Richland county executive committee chairman, said the committee probably would meet and select a slate of candidates whose names will be submitted to Republican voters at the May primary.

The state central committee picked a slate of eight delegates-at-large to the national conven-

The two men were riding in a truck owned by Romeo's Auto Forwarding company of Watervliet, N. Y.

Ostaff said he swerved to try to avoid the collision, but the big machines met head-on

LEARNS ABOUT POKER—FOR $900

"Student" Has "Teacher" Arrested On Grand Larceny Charge.

HAMILTON—(AP)—Poker at $900 a lesson is just a little too much, Harry A. Balon, 69, decided in signing a warrant today charging grand larceny against Lee Katsikas, 34.

Balon told police that 10 days ago he had a "yen" to learn the game, and accepted Katsikas' offer to "show me all about it."

The two retired to Balon's room—and he lost consistently, he said, until the figure reached that named in the warrant.

Katsikas was taken into custody today at his Middletown home.

DELAYS HEARING

Attorney Ill, Civil Service Continues Metcalf Appeal.

A civil service hearing of an appeal of Mrs. Edith Metcalf, Mansfield, discharged state sales tax examiner, was continued indefinitely this morning when Atty. Lewis Brucker, one of her two attorneys, was unable to appear before the commission because of illness.

The continuance was granted by the state civil service commission on the request of Atty. W. S. Pealer of Columbus, Mrs. Metcalf's other attorney.

The commission's three members and Atty. George L. Houck from the attorney general's office had assembled at the Richland county courthouse to hear the appeal when the request for continuance was submitted.

Thirteen witnesses had been called to testify, including nine for Mrs. Metcalf and four for the state.

TWO GET SUSPENSIONS

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Two $1,500-a-year examiners in the state division of aid for the aged received 30-day suspensions today for "disciplinary purposes." They were: Mrs. Lillian Shrimplin of Warren, Trumbull county office, and John D. Williams of near Chillicothe, Ross county office.

COUNTY SETS TRAFFIC MARK

Goes Through First Month in 4 Years Without Fatality; Weather Given Credit.

For the first time in at least four years, Richland county escaped without a fatal traffic accident in January, and traffic officers think the weather might have had something to do with it.

While slippery roads and streets are usually blamed for a number of winter accidents, deputy sheriffs and state highway patrolmen said the combination of zero weather and icy roads reduced accidents last month instead of increasing them.

They pointed out that the cold kept a number of motorists off the highways and the treacherous roads made them drive slower, reducing the chance of serious crashes.

"The month's record proves that speed is the cause of most serious accidents and that when drivers slow down they can still have an accident and not be seriously hurt or killed," Deputy Sheriff G. C. Humphrey said.

FLORIDA WORKS TO SAVE CROPS

Lighted Tractors Used to Replant Vegetables Frozen Out.

MIAMI, Fla. —(AP)— Stringing emergency headlights on their tractors, farmers in the rich Florida redlands are working 24-hour shifts replanting the winter vegetable crops destroyed by last week's disastrous freeze.

They are battling against time to get new crops ready for the market ahead of competing farm sections farther north.

Ever, day they save means money in their pockets.

This area, its tender tomato, bean and cabbage plants ruined by below-freezing temperatures Saturday night, staggered beneath cash losses estimated as high as $10,000,000 in this county alone.

Looks Like Early Spring If You Can Count On Groundhog

Predicted snows and another cold snap tomorrow indicates that the groundhog probably will come out of winter seclusion and will not be frightened by his shadow—thus, according to legend shortening the winter and bringing an early spring.

Tomorrow is Groundhog day and the weather bureau promises light snows and "much colder" temperatures, which indicates that the sun will be in hiding and Mr Woodchuck will not cast a shadow when he ventures forth for a yawn after his winter sleep.

Temperature around Mansfield climbed yesterday warmed by the sun to the point where ice and snow thawed somewhat. The high reading was 32 yesterday, and it was 28 at noon today.

The predicted cold threatened to forestall the release of the Ohio river from the ice jam that holds it, and rivermen fear that another drop in temperatures will start the river freezing again.

Army engineers reported that the deepest gorge in the river is near Ashland, Ky., where the stream is full of solid ice from shore to shore, and from the river bottom to the top, for a stretch of more than a half mile. It has already caused a three-foot rise in the river back of the barrier.

Meanwhile Steubenville faces a shortage of water because the ice gorges both below and above the city have reduced the Ohio river at that point to three feet three inches the lowest point in 26 years.

Government's Future Rests On People, Justice Hughes Says

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, speaking at services commemorating the 150th anniversary of the first meeting of the supreme court, said today that the future of the American system of government "rests with the people who have created that system," not with the court.

Hughes chose the words of ancient chief justice John Marshall, to emphasize his point that the American people in reality are the last court of appeal:

"'The people made the constitution, and the people can unmake it. It is the creature of their will, and lives only by their will.'"

Hughes then asserted that it was the court's responsibility to see that the people's will "shall be faithfully executed in the determination of their controversies."

STALIN NEAR FRONT?

Dispatches Say He Probes False Reports of Victory From Red Commanders.

BULLETIN

HELSINKI —(U.P.)— President Kyosti Kallio told parliament today that Finland is ready to negotiate an honorable peace.

(By International News Service)

HELSINKI — Russian troops in the far northern front, after weeks of comparative inactivity, today revived a large-scale offensive, but in repeated onslaughts during the night and morning were driven back.

A Finnish counter-offensive, directed to frustrate the Red army's attempt to cut Finland off from Norway, pushed the Soviet fighters back to their original positions.

At Hoyenjaervi near Petsamo 20 Russian planes, a large number of tanks, and heavy artillery were used without avail in the attacks.

Fierce fighting, with the Soviets taking the initiative, also was reported from the Salla and Lake Ladoga fronts.

The three Russian offensives were made as Stockholm reports revealed that the Russian high command in the Leningrad military district sent false reports of victories to the Kremlin.

As a result, it was asserted, Dictator Josef Stalin, Premier V. M. Molotov, and War Commissar Klementi Voroshilov went to the front for a personal inspection.

Stalin, these accounts said, first became aware of true conditions on the Finnish fronts through Swedish newspaper accounts sent by Mme. Alexandra M. Kollontay, Soviet minister to Stockholm.

Since then, Stalin has ordered all editions of Swedish newspapers rushed to Moscow, where he reads the accounts himself.

Significantly, the Red army's official newspaper, Red Star, has started a campaign violently criticizing leadership of the Finnish campaign, and demanding that steps be taken at once

HEARS 15 CASES

New Grand Jury Convenes at Courthouse Today.

With 15 cases on the docket, the January term Richland county grand jury convened for the first time this morning in a session that is expected to last until Friday noon.

Two cases were added to the court docket in the past 24 hours, one involving a charge of obtaining money under false pretense and the other citing a Mansfield man for driving an automobile without the owner's consent.

The opening session of the new petit jury, also scheduled for this morning, was delayed until Monday when a damage suit that had been set for trial was settled out of court. Seeking $5,000 damages, it was filed by R. Belle Anderson against Olive E. Talbot, owner of an apartment on Park avenue west when the plaintiff allegedly received injuries in a fall downstairs.

Fifty-one witnesses had been subpoenaed today to testify before the jury.

CROSBY BETTER

Physicians Say He Can Leave Hospital Without Operation.

HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — Bing Crosby probably will leave the hospital today, escaping the ordeal of an appendectomy. This word came from his physician who said the crooner's condition was good and that an operation will not be necessary, at least for the present.

Crosby was taken to the hospital Monday for observation after suffering a mild attack of appendicitis.

BORAH LOOKED UPON HITLER AS 'NAPOLEON'

Senator Saw Nazi Chief as Becoming 'Most Powerful Figure in World.'

(EDITOR'S NOTE—The late Senator Borah's personal estimation of Adolf Hitler is revealed by William K. Hutchinson in the following article, the 11th in a series of the American statesman's life—International News Service.)

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

WASHINGTON — William Edgar Borah regarded Chancellor Adolf Hitler before the second world war as wielding greater power than Napoleon Bonaparte and as capable of becoming the "most powerful figure in the world" by merely ending "racial and religious persecutions" in greater Germany.

This explains his eagerness to confer personally with Hitler.

He also looked upon Hitler and Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain as "partners" in a campaign to rule Europe. Not even the second world war shook that belief, because Borah felt the two European leaders were staking a fantastic melodrama to drive lesser figures into line before exercising their partnership anew.

In February, 1938, Borah shed light on his later efforts to meet Hitler. It was the day after Hitler delivered a speech to the reichstag. Borah said:

"The press carried a statement that Hitler would announce a cessation in Germany of all racial and religious persecutions. Hitler didn't. Such a statement would have gone far toward putting an end to these persecutions in Europe.

"If that statement had been made, it would have made Hitler the most powerful figure in the world.

"I don't know how others felt about it but I was greatly in hope there were reasons to assume he would do so. His failure to do so leaves the situation where these barbarous persecutions are likely to continue."

When German troops marched into Czechoslovakia in March, 1939, I asked Borah whether it meant a new world war. He replied in the negative, adding:

Gain Nothing From France.

"If Hitler is as wise as I believe him to be, he has no designs whatsoever on France. He would gain nothing by attacking France but would so imperil the economic and financial stability of all Europe as to very likely bring about the collapse of his own regime. He has enough on his hands now to consolidate his gains to keep him busy for some time."

Then, as he often did later, he spoke of a "Hitler-Chamberlain" partnership. He said:

"I know it to be a fact as much as I ever know anything to be a fact that Britain is behind Hitler in seizing Czechoslovakia.

"Britain wants Hitler to become supreme in all central Europe. Britain regards Hitler as a stabilizing influence and a barrier against Communism. Britain will give Hitler a free hand in Europe so long as he makes no move that can be interpreted as a threat to the British lifeline or imperial British possessions.

"This means Hitler will not support Mussolini in any real effort to seize control of the Mediterranean."

In March, 1939, again Hitler announced a treaty with Slovakia guaranteeing Slovakia's independence and territorial integrity. Borah remarked:

"Gad, what a chance Hitler has. If he only moderates his religious and racial intolerance, he would take his place beside Charlemagne. He has taken Europe without firing a shot."

In late April, Hitler answered President Roosevelt's appeal for peace. The chancellor declared peace could be maintained by revision of the Versailles treaty and asked Mr. Roosevelt to intervene in that direction. Borah's reaction was:

"A great speech. If the noisy brats over here would keep their mouths shut, Hitler will settle his problems and do it with Chamberlain's consent and help.

"These two men are going to dominate Europe. I believe they are now working together again. I have never thought there would be any war and I don't think so now.

"Chamberlain is never going to let Stalin take the place of Hitler."

But Borah was forever fearful Hitler would make a tragic diplomatic mistake. Over a year ago, he said to me:

"No man has ever had so much power to wield as Hitler—as much power as was given to him at Munich—not even Napoleon Bonaparte. It is little wonder if it goes to his head, it would tax even a Washington. Now all his people are afraid of him—even his advisers. He has been right so often when they believed him wrong that they now believe he is touched with divinity and cannot fail."

And only recently he said:

"Hitler has been successful when he only took over land occupied principally by Germans, because it could well be supported as correcting the outrages of the Versailles treaty. But he is taking great risks when he departs from his oft-repeated purpose never to take into the Reich other races. That can't be said to be consolidating the Germans.

"There never have been many of these geniuses who could stop at the right time."

(Tomorrow—Borah on the Versailles Treaty.)

CLOCKS, BELLS GIVE SUBJECTS FOR STUDY

Mrs. David N. Roller, Mrs. Alfred J. Reynolds Present Papers Before Wednesday Club; Plan Next Session.

PAPERS presented before the members of the Wednesday Study club yesterday when the members met with Mrs. Henry Sanford at the Women's Club were significant in their close relationship of subject. Mrs. David N. Roller spoke on "The Romance of Bells." Mrs. Roller, who has been collecting bells for the past three years, displayed her collection which included mission, elephant, sleigh, camel and pancake bells.

She gave the history of bells, and told stories about the various ones in her collection, explaining that the pancake bells were rung in England on Shrove Tuesday—the day preceding Ash Wednesday—which is known as pancake day.

Mrs. Alfred Reynolds then spoke on "Famous Old Clocks." Outstanding among her descriptions was that of the Strausburg clock which is decorated with the figures of Christ and the apostles instead of the customary numerals. She also described the grandmother clock which is a smaller timepiece similar to the well-known grandfather clock.

Tea was served at the close of the meeting, and Mrs. Paul Bovard and Mrs. Louis J. Ott presided at the flower decorated table.

The next meeting will be held Feb. 14 with Mrs. Louis Lamoreux as hostess. Mrs. Ott will speak on "Valentines" at this time, and Mrs. Burton Preston will give a paper entitled "What's New In the News."

Reduce That Thickening Middle

By MME QUI VIVE

"More waist, less speed" The poor plump darling knows the truth and the sorrow of that axiom all right. She doesn't sprint for bus or street car, must wait patiently until the next one comes Climbing stairs is a laborious process.

Fat cells creep up on one. It isn't always a matter of stoking up on good groceries; glandular disturbances are responsible for overweight in many cases. That is why freak diets are dangerous. Before any woman starts on a reducing spree she should consult the family doctor, have a medical examination. It's fairly safe to lesson the intake of fats, starches and sweets that build adipose tissue. But semi-starvation depletes energy, can cause excessive nervousness, sometimes real discomfort.

It often happens that the protuberant abdomen is not caused by excess tissues, but by poor posture that has caused the muscles to lose tone and sag. Many a skinny woman has a forward shelf because her backbone isn't on the job and shoulders are thrown forward. Muscles can be strengthened by rational exercise which, of course, must be continued for some time.

The woman who is not accustomed to muscular exertion, and the one who is nearing fifty, must exercise in moderation. Five minutes for the first few weeks. At the first feeling of fatigue she must rest.

The thickened waist can be reduced in measurement by simple bending exercises. Stand erect, hands on the hips. Keep as tall as you can. Bend to the right, lifting the left shoulder, pulling hard on the interlacing fibers that extend from under the arm to the hip. Bend to the right as far as you can. Back to first position, then to the left.

NO IRRITATION TO HANDS IN NEW SUDS FOR DISHES

Women find new type suds gives dishes and glassware amazing sparkle, yet hands stay soft because it is not a soap. Entirely different from even the finest soap or soap flakes because it contains no acid or alkali. If you have ever been ashamed of coarse, red hands . . . if you have ever wondered what robbed your fingers of their dainty smoothness . . . chances are it's the alkali from the soap you use for washing dishes. That's why thousands of women are switching to Vel, the new soapless suds perfected by Colgate that contains no acid, no alkali to irritate the skin. It's startling how you can wash dishes time after time without a trace of the irritation to hands resulting from soaps. Vel is so easy on hands, women joyfully report it "takes the curse out of dishwashing". Glassware and china sparkle with glittering highlights, because Vel—unlike soap—cannot form soap-scum to streak glassware and dishes. Vel is also the ideal suds for silks and woolens because it works perfectly in cold water and because it can't leave soap-scum to make fresh colors dull and frowsy-looking. Buy Vel today at any grocer's. Made and guaranteed by Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Company.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Won't you come in, Olina?" I asked, trying to make my voice casual.

"I'm sorry, but I must not," she said. "I just came over to ask you if you had any idea what kind of gown I would need for that scene, should Mr. Veritzen decide that my harp playing is good enough."

Her infections told me that she was not so sure now of her future step-father's approval of her playing as she had appeared to be when she so proudly left him.

"I don't think you need to worry on that score," I said reassuringly. "It is always a policy with Mr. Veritzen to take the most pessimistic viewpoint possible of a theatrical problem, espeeially when he is talking to an aspirant. He always says that he would rather be discouraging first, and encouraging second, than to reverse the process. So I really do not think you need to worry on that score."

"Oh! you really think that?" she asked. "Then I can breathe again. But I am puzzled about that gown, I—I—have nothing, you know."

"And it wouldn't do you any good if you had a million dresses," Mary struck in with a cheery note in her voice, and I knew that in spite of the smouldering enmity between the two girls, Mary's generous nature was sending out the same wave of sympathy that I had felt.

"You see," Mary explained, "my respected papa-in-law picks the gowns for his productions — and pays for them, as do all big producers. You won't even know what it's like until you try it on. He attends to every detail, down to the last twist of ribbon on your corsage, so you can put your mind at rest on that score."

"I am so glad," she said, and Mary shot a quick glance at her tense face and narrowed eyes.

"Look here, Kid!" she said breezily, "you're about all in. How about going down to the kitchen, getting a spot of tea from Katie, and then coming out to the tennis courts again? If you don't feel like tennis, there's always croquet. But I prescribe the great open spaces for you about now."

"That's awfully sweet of you, Mary," she said at last, and I saw that her face had lost the latent hostility which I had seen in it so often when she looked at Mary. "I would like to take you on at tennis again this morning. Perhaps my luck will turn. But," doubtfully, "I suppose I ought to go back to Maman, although she said she didn't need me."

"Suppose you let me take your place with your mother for awhile," I said. "There are several things I have to discuss with her, and I might as well take this time as any other."

"O! I know Maman will be so pleased," she said brightly. "Shall I tell her you're coming?"

"I'll tell her that myself," I said, smiling. "You go on with Mary, and forget everything but your game for the next hour."

Cheese, Egg Dishes Welcome

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

CHEESE AND EGG dishes are ideal for luncheon, supper and just snacks. No good cook can ever have too many of them. Here are some that you might like to try, maybe during Lent.

Egg Curry is made with two tablespoons butter, two tablespoon flour, teaspoon curry powder, one-eighth teaspoon paprika, one-half tablespoon finely-chopped onion, one-half teaspoon salt, one and one-third cups scalded milk, four hardboiled eggs and one cup cooked rice. Cream butter and flour. Add curry powder, paprika, chopped onion and salt. Stir well, add the scalded milk and cook until mixture thickens. Chop the egg whites and add them with the cooked rice to the above mixture. Serve in patty shells and garnish with the chopped egg yolks.

Cheese Delight requires one-half cup grated American cheese, one and one-half tablespoons melted butter, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon paprika, three eggs, two teaspoons prepared mustard. Mix grated cheese, butter, salt and paprika. Beat eggs until light, add mustard and pour into the cheese mixture. Cook in double boiler, stirring constantly until the mixture is smooth and creamy. Serve on hot toast points garnished with paprika.

Instead of Potatoes.

Cheese Fritters substitute for potatoes. Make them with one cup cooked rice, one egg, one-fourth cup milk, one-half cup grated American cheese, two teaspoons prepared mustard, one-fourth teaspoon salt, butter cracker crumbs and one-fourth teaspoon paprika. Mix the rice thoroughly with the beaten egg, milk, grated cheese and seasonings. Shape into balls, roll in buttered cracker crumbs and fry in deep fat.

A reader sends a recipe for hominy and tomatoes that is excellent. For four servings, use one tablespoon butter (melted), tablespoon flour, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half cup evaporated milk, four medium-sized tomatoes, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, tablespoon sugar, one-fourth cup drained, canned hominy and one-half cup grated cheese. Make a sauce by blending butter, flour, salt, adding milk, and cooking a few minutes until thick and smooth. Scoop out the tomatoes and sprinkle inside with salt, pepper and sugar. Mix hominy with the sauce. Fill tomatoes with hominy mixture and sprinkle with cheese. Bake in a moderate oven.

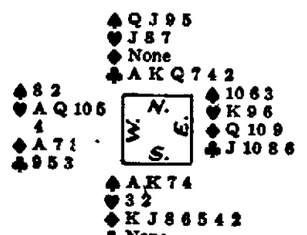
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

MANY KINDS OF THRILLS

There is hardly any limit to the number of different kinds of thrills which bridge can furnish. They can come from clever bidding, from the executing of a nice squeeze or lead-throwing end play, from a skillful defense, from shrewd deception which lures an opponent into a vital mistake, from successful completion of a slam contract and many other developments. Some of them come under the heading of feats which upon partial description appear impossible, until the full evidence is in.



(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

West started the activity on this deal with 1-Heart, then subsided as his opponents took the initiative into their own hands. North overcalled with 2-Clubs, South bid 2-Diamonds, North 3-Clubs and then South 3-Spades, which North raised to 4-Spades.

After West led the diamond A and the dummy hand was spread, the declarer, William B. Hill, jr., made a brief study, then emitted an exclamation of glee. Imagine making a grand slam with two aces out against you, when you seemed to have two certain losers in the defenders' heart suit! That is exactly what he saw, and he proceeded to make the vision come true.

Of course the diamond A was ruffed, then two clubs furnished heart discards from the closed hand. The spade Q and A were taken, also the diamond K, then a diamond ruffed. South was reentered with a heart ruff, the spade K cashed, and the diamonds completed the run of 13 consecutive tricks.

Tomorrow's Problem.

What bidding would you advise on this deal?

TESTS AT WORLD-FAMOUS HOSPITAL

reveal one of greatest discoveries ever made about

CONSTIPATION

16 Scientists Find Way To Actually

Produce Nature's Own Daily, Gentle, Pleasant Bowel Action!

MILLIONS OF SUFFERERS

from indigestion, sick headaches, sallow muddy skin, dull eyes, nervousness, "the blues," that "always tired" feeling resulting from Constipation should benefit by this famous formula.

HERE'S marvelous news for constipation sufferers! Results from 9 months' scientific tests in one of the world's most famous hospitals have at last proved there IS an IDEAL "daily" treatment for constipation. 16 Scientists took part in this clinic. Over 1470 experiments were made.

Tests showed many cathartics, purgatives, laxatives and harsh roughage products only "irritated" the bowel into action and resulted in bigger and more frequent doses having to be taken. After a time some products even made the condition worse.

ONE OF THE CHIEF CAUSES OF CONSTIPATION—

is a "clogged" colon due to lack of moisture in the colon. Waste matter then becomes caked, dry, hard and difficult to move on. Don't fail to read how Scientific research discovered an effective way to provide more gentle complete "daily" bowel movements.

SUCCESS AT LAST!

For over 40 years millions and millions of folks have been taking a "little daily dose" of Kruschen and many wrote in letters praising it to the skies. These scientists wanted to find out WHY. So they started experimenting with the "little daily dose"—a half to one teaspoonful in a glass of water in the morning—and what an astounding discovery they made!

And just listen to this!—Kruschen now also comes in effervescent form—sparkling, "bubbling"—and makes one of the most refreshing, delightfully pleasant bubbling drinks you ever tasted!!

WHAT A DIFFERENCE!

Imagine these scientists' joy when they discovered what a difference Kruschen made! No violence. No griping or nausea. No purging. Just gentle, soft, yet most satisfactory and complete movements without the slightest irritation.

Not in one test above did the dose have to be increased.

In fact these doctors and chemists reported: "We consider this one of the most important investigations we ever made and that this small daily dose of Kruschen is a MOST SATISFACTORY aid to keep the colon sweet, clean and free from poisonous wastes —Kruschen can be taken every day for years with no necessity to increase dosage."

HOW IT WORKS

You see if waste matter in the colon isn't kept moist—it becomes hard, dry, caked and results in constipation. These scientists discovered that a little daily dose of Kruschen actually PRODUCES NATURE'S OWN GENTLE PLEASANT BOWEL ACTION by keeping this waste matter moist and soft and makes it easy to expel. How grateful these Men of Science were to be able at last to endorse an ideal, "daily" treatment for constipation which, by the way, ALSO acts as a mild antacid and kidney diuretic.

INEXPENSIVE!

The low cost of this home treatment will amaze you. A jar of Kruschen lasts weeks and costs but a trifle. Take a half to one teaspoonful in a glass of water—don't miss a morning. And, if because of constipation you're feeling depressed, dull in mind with sleepless nights, —you should soon begin to feel like a new person — Frisky as a puppy — Whole world brighter and gayer! Don't fail to get a jar TODAY. Over 245,000,000 jars of Kruschen have been sold by druggists THROUGHOUT THE WORLD. No wonder scientists wanted to find out WHY Kruschen did so much good for so many! THEY did and YOU should too, once you try it. And now that Kruschen comes in pleasant tasting "bubbling" form you, too, should get onto "the little daily dose".

GREAT NEWS!

Kruschen, made right here in U. S. A., now comes also in a most delightful tasting, "bubbling" form. Splendid for constipation as well as a mild antacid and kidney diuretic.

Light-Heavy Champ Signs for Fund Show

INTER-CLASS SWIMMING MEET SET FOR FRIDAY

An inter-class swimming meet will be held at Mansfield high school under the direction of Coach Paul Snyder at 3:30 p. m. Friday, it was announced today. The public is invited and there will be no admission charge.

Stacy Hall to Meet Undefeated Masked Marvel on Armory Mat Card Monday.

ONE of the greatest wrestlers produced by Ohio State university will be a featured performer on The News-Journal Finnish Relief Fund card to be staged at popular prices in the Armory ring Monday night.

His name is Stacy Hall, and he is the present light-heavyweight champion of the world.

Hall will meet the spectacular Masked Marvel in one of the double wind-up bouts on the benefit card, which will include four matches.

The ex-Ohio State star is the second world's champion added to the card. The first was Billy Weidner, junior light-heavy king, who will meet Walter Stratton, Leetonia, O., weight lifting champion.

Monday will mark the first appearance of Hall in a Mansfield ring, and in him mat fans of this town will see one of the greatest grapplers of the day.

His is the story of a clean-cut college kid who set out to accomplish something and wouldn't let anything discourage him or turn him from his course.

When he was a kid in school, Stacy used to work out with some of the good pro wrestlers and it was then he resolved to seek the world's lightheavyweight crown when he got out of school.

Immediately his college mat career had ended he turned to pro matwork.

Hall met with some sickening setbacks. First of all he was too light for the lightheavies. Inasmuch as there wasn't much action among the welters and middles, Hall had to spot the lightheavies many, many pounds in weight and as a result he didn't beat many of them for a while.

However, as he got more thoroughly grounded in the pro method of conditioning he began to put on weight and he found his won and lost record improving as a result.

Hall reached the heights last December in Columbus when he defeated Frankie Talaber of Chicago for the title and he has successfully defended it several times since.

Hall will face a rough-and-tumble performer in the Masked Marvel, whose identity remains very much in doubt. The mysterious one is undefeated in 94 straight bouts and he will remain unmasked only if he wins.

* * *

Ringside seats for the Finnish Fund show are now on sale in the business office of The News-Journal. Those purchasing ringside seats at The News-Journal office before noon Saturday will receive a $1 ticket for 75 cents if the purchase is accompanied by the coupon appearing on this page.

The office will be open from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m.

General admission tickets will be 50 cents and ringside seats $1 at the boxoffice at the Armory Monday night.

DONATES ARMORY

Co-operating with The News-Journal in the promotion of the Finnish Relief Fund wrestling show Monday night, Capt. R. J. Nichols of Battery D, Mansfield national guard unit, has donated the use of the Armory for the benefit presentation. The Armory is located on the Ashland road at the end of east Fourth street.

Chocolates, Sports Must Win Tonight To Stay In Race

SHELLEY'S CHOCOLATES and Yuncker's Sports must win tonight to remain in the battle for the second round title in the City Class A league.

The Chocolates will meet the Westinghouse Electrics in the first game at 7:30 p. m. on today's program at Mansfield high school. The Sports will engage the Blue Goose Sohioans in the second game.

The Blue Goose and Westinghouse entries won their opening games in the round, and need only to win again tonight to make it a two-team race.

If these two teams should win, the title will be on the block when they tangle next week.

The Blue Goose, Yuncker and Shelley teams tied for the first round crown.

RUDOLPH TO MAKE DEBUT WITH SHELLEYS TONIGHT

Gene Rudolph, Mansfield high school cage star, who became ineligible this week because of the eight-semester ruling, will make his debut in the City Class A league tonight with the Shelley Chocolates, who meet the Westinghouse Electrics in the first game at the Tyger lair.

Tyger Court Mentor Seeks Replacements

Hoffman Hopes to Strengthen Mansfield Lineup for Friday's Game With Akron West.

Jack Shiplet, who graduated from the sophomore class this week, is certain to hold down a starting position Friday night when the Tygers of Mansfield high school engage Akron West in a court struggle on the home court.

Harry Phillips, a mite of a lad, who got his first chance to start a varsity ball game against Ashland, is also expected to be in the lineup at the tip-off.

It would probably be difficult to keep Gene Miller and Russ Beer out of starting assignments.

But Coach Vern Hoffman gave no indications today as to who would fill the fifth spot in the Mansfield lineup.

Admitting that the Tygers gave their poorest exhibition of the season against Ashland which beat Mansfield, 32 to 27, this week, Hoffman minced no words in saying that lineup changes were inevitable.

Lack of reserve strength has made Hoffman's job a problem, but he contends that "something must be done to remedy conditions."

Don Rose, Bill Herpich, Dick Burkholder and a few others have not been sidetracked definitely. Hoffman indicated that Shiplet, Phillips, Beer and Miller cannot afford to let down if they hope to keep their jobs, and yesterday's workout showed that Martin Henke and Bob Winbigler are regarded as first-string prospects.

* * *

There is a possibility that the Tygers will go into the game Friday without a lineup change, but Hoffman said not to bet on it.

Six Indians Still Unsigned

'Slap' Heads South Without Completing Roster.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—C. C. Slapnicka, big chief of the Indians, headed south today without smoking the financial peace pipe with six of his Redskins.

Pitchers Johnny Allen, Willis Hudlin and Johnny Broaca, Catchers Frank Pytlak and Hank Helf and Second Baseman Sammy Hale showed little interest in a club smoker and dispatched their contracts unsigned back to the wigwam.

"I had hoped to clean up all of the club's contract business before leaving," the Cleveland vice president said on departing for the Fort Myers (Fla.) training base. "I'm not going to wait any longer. The players don't appear to be in any hurry to sign so I intend to give them plenty of time to think it over."

* * *

Allen, Pytlak and Hale are considered the most serious of the holdouts. All were asked to take cuts.

Slapnicka said the failure of Helf to sign may cost the rookie a trip to camp. Helf spent one season with the Indians as third-string catcher and last year was at Buffalo.

Seabiscuit Again Pulled From Race

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—One guess is as good as another as to when Charles S. Howard's Seabiscuit will make his 1940 debut at Santa Anita park.

The Biscuit was withdrawn from a race for the fifth time in 10 days yesterday after owner Howard decided the track, drenched by an hour of rain, was too slippery for his prized horse. George W. Stratton's Heelfly, who ran a dead heat with Seabiscuit in 1937, won the mile race over four contenders.

Baptist Loses Share of Lead In 'A' League

First Methodists Win Over Park Avenue Club, 42-32, To Top Standings.

A determined First Methodist combine dusted off Park Avenue Baptist, 42 to 32, at the Y. M. C. A. last night to gain sole possession of first place in the Church Class A league race.

The new pace setters, led by Sites and Clemons, were ahead from the opening gun. In the other tilt, Mayflower edged St. John's Evangelicals, 40 to 38. First Lutheran won over Central Methodist on a forfeit.

Sites and Clemons pushed in 11 points apiece to pace the First Methodist attack. The winners held a 4-1 lead in the opening period, a 13 to 11 advantage at halftime, and a 31 to 22 lead as play opened in the final frame.

Rayburn tipped in 12 points for individual honors.

The Mayflower-St. John's affair was a nip-and-tuck battle from the start. Mayflower led, 8-6, in the first quarter, was ahead 23 to 20, at the intermission and held a 30 to 27 advantage at the end of the third chapter. Russell led the winners with 10 points, and Augustine topped the losers with 14.

Bettors Risk Odds on Fred

Make Apostoli 7-5 Choice Over Bettina Friday.

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—It's about as close to an even match as any promoter could dream up, but the more daring bettors were risking as much as 7 to 5 today that Freddie Apostoli takes Melio Bettina again in their 15-round fight in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

* * *

The two boys have a lot in common. Both have been recognized as champions of the world in New York state. Both have taken a couple of lickings from Light Heavyweight Champion Billy Conn. Both still have ambitions of beating Conn.

* * *

That's what the Apostoli-Bettina return scrap is all about. They are fighting to decide which will get a shot at the 175-pound title. Promoter Mike Jacobs has promised the winner a championship match against the winner of the Conn-Gus Lesnevich title affair in Miami Feb. 28. Jacobs hasn't decided the site of the winner vs. winner bout yet, but the odds are that it will be staged at Detroit in March. Apostoli scored a 12-round verdict over Bettina last month in a fight as close as an old fashioned straight razor shave.

Shiloh-New Haven Game May Decide League Title Friday

THE GAME that will probably decide the Twin-Valley league championship will be staged at New Haven Friday night. It pits the undefeated Shiloh club against New Haven, which is in second place.

The Drummer Boys and Yellow Jackets have been running 1-2 in the league since the opening of the season. In their first game, Shiloh won, 26 to 18, with a late scoring spree. The Jackets' other defeat was administered by Plymouth.

Shiloh has won seven straight games, and the Yellow Jackets have a string of eight straight on their own court. New Haven is coached by Donald J. Moist, graduate of Ashland college.

Greenwich plays at North Fairfield in the other league fray Friday, while Plymouth faces an alumni team. The Shiloh-New Haven records follow: Shiloh-North Fairfield, 23-18; Union, 34-14; New Haven, 26-18; Plymouth, 27-22; Greenwich, 24-22; North Fairfield, 28-14.

New Haven-Tiro, 33-16; Townsend, 16-24; Greenwich, 37-17; New Washington, 37-24; Huron, 22-20; Shiloh, 18-26; Ruggles, 30-18; alumni, 26-18; New London, 37-22; North Fairfield, 29-14; Plymouth, 19-20; Greenwich, 23-15; Huron, 32-35.

Shelby to Meet Undefeated Foe

Shelby will be host to what stacks up as the strongest club to hold forth in the N. C. O. conference in years Friday night. It is the undefeated Mt. Vernon quintet.

While the Whippets are battling the spectacular Jackets, Marion will invade Galion and Bucyrus will trek to Ashland.

Shiloh, Union Open Play

Play In First Game of County Play In Lucas Gym; Mansfield High Host to Other Tilts.

BELLVILLE HIGH'S once-beaten Bluejays, pacemakers in the Richland county basketball league championship race, tackle either Union or Shiloh in their initial test in the annual county tournament at Mansfield Senior high at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday, Feb. 21, it was revealed today following the drawings last night at the courthouse.

The county tourney gets under way at 8 p. m. Monday, Feb. 19, when Union and Shiloh, undefeated Twin-Valley league combine, clash at Lucas high.

Hostilities switch to the Senior high gymnasium on Wednesday with a four-game program. Survivors return for the semi-finals Saturday afternoon, Feb. 24, and the consolation and championship finals will be held on Saturday night.

* * *

Lucas, the defending champion, meets Butler at 8:30 p. m. Wednesday in its first game. This may develop into one of the best contests on the card as these two clubs battled in the finals last spring.

In the other settos Wednesday, Madison plays Lexington at 9:30 p. m., and Ontario and Plymouth meet at 7:30 p. m.

While Bellville enters the affair as pre-tourney favorites, there will be a couple of other teams which may have something to say about it.

Shiloh, winner of seven straight, looks like a real threat, along with Butler, which has copped five in a row after a slow start, and Lucas, which handed Bellville its lone setback.

Union, although it has won only one league game in 10 starts, has always been dangerous in tournament competition, and might hit its stride in this year's meet.

Madison, the county league's defending champion, Ontario, and Plymouth should make it interesting for some of the favorites.

Coach Al Fendrick's Rams hold down second place in the county race, but are having a battle retaining the berth. Madison holds a half-game lead over Butler, Lexington and Lucas.

* * *

Officials for the tourney were announced at the meeting in County Supt. Boyd Robinson's office last night by E. L. Bailey, of Plymouth, tournament manager. They are Ridgal Albers of Cleveland and Harold Block of Elyria.

SOHIOANS OPEN

The Blue Goose Sohioans seek games with Class A or strong Class B quintets in or around Mansfield. Call Canal 2737 or write to Carl Dinger, R. D. 4, Mansfield.

SHIFT MAT MATCH

The Mansfield-Cuyahoga Falls wrestling match scheduled at the Y. M. C. A. at 7:30 p. m. today was changed late yesterday. It was to be held at the high school this afternoon, it was announced.

Glover Battles In Cleveland Finals Friday

Friendly House Lightweight Meets Flemia in Golden Gloves Tournament.

Beauford Glover, Mansfield lightweight hope in the open division of the Cleveland Golden Gloves tournament, completed his training sessions today as he prepared to invade the Lake City to battle in the finals at Public Hall tomorrow night.

The Friendly House amateur, who sprung an upset by eliminating Jimmy Kintz in a semi-final affair Monday night, meets Jerry Flemia, promising Downs A. C. leather slinger.

The Mansfield lad's chances of victory are bright and tourney experts are picking him to cop the 135-pound crown. If Glover wins he goes to Chicago to participate in the national tournament.

Flemia will be a dangerous opponent. The Clevelander can dish out plenty of punishment and Glover will have to be in top form to emerge the winner.

Glover, who disposed of Lorenza Martin, George Jones, Berry Wright and Kintz, has not ran into anything difficult. Kintz probably gave him his toughest fight, but Glover had him hanging on in the third heat.

* * *

Not one of Glover's rivals have been able to weather more than two of his deadly right crosses. Glover had trouble landing that right on Kintz, but he evened it up with a nifty left hook that shook Kintz several times. Friday's show is scheduled to open at 8 p. m.

Babe Collects 679 Sticks as He Leads Greystone Club to 2944 Series In City League.

FDDIE (BABE) MEDER staged a one-man show in the City Class A league at the Meder alleys last night.

Meder, who bowls with the Greystone Nite club, banged the uprights for a roaring 679 count, which was rolled with games of 244, 225 and 210.

His big score enabled the Greystone team to reach the 2944 figures, which were high in the league last night. The Greystone five won two games from the Lutz Lumbers of Lexington as it finished with a 1023 score. Orland Grable contributed a 594 to the Greystone total.

Johnny Leppo's 594 and Sonny Meder's 590 led the Mansfielders to a 2818 total and a pair of wins over Gene Funston's All-Stars. Harold Selby rolled 593 for the All-Stars. The Mansfielders finished with a 1021.

Wolf accounted for the only other 600 as he paced the Ingram-Martin Oldsmobiles to a 2761 series and a pair of wins over the Weldner Pontiacs, who hit 2738. Sporting a middle game of 254, Wolf came through with 615.

* * *

Jack Hanrahan of the Order Service team smacked out a 634 count to set the individual scoring pace in the Westinghouse league. J. Sutton of the Thermostat Assembly hit 622 and W. Warren of the Refrigeration Machines came through with a 607.

Butler Seeks Sixth Victory At Bellville

Madison to Attempt to Hold Second Place in Game With Lexington Friday.

There should be plenty of action on the Richland county league front Friday night.

One game that is particularly attractive brings Butler and Bellville together on the Bellville court, and it is possible for the Bluejays to cinch a share of the title in this tilt.

Another game with an important bearing on the title race takes Madison to Lexington, and this will be a battle for second place. Ontario performs at Union in the other game.

Bellville runs against the hottest piece of cage machinery in the county Friday. Butler has not been defeated since it dropped its first four league games. It has won five in a row since.

The Bluejays suffered their first setback of the season last week at the hands of Lucas, and they may be softened up for another defeat, Butler boosters claim.

Madison holds down second place at present, with Lucas a half game in the rear. The Rams can bolster their hold on the runner-up position with a victory. A defeat will automatically hoist the idle Lucas club into the spot and drop Madison into a tie for the next position with Lexington.

Butler can also gain a tie for third place by turning back the Bellville cagers if Madison loses.

A hockey wing must be able to score goals but another and sometimes more valuable asset is the ability to keep the rival winger you are assigned to watch from scoring also. This is where Bob Blake, the Barons' coal miner from Hibbing, Minn., comes in. Bob is the fastest skater on the Cleveland club and, although not a sensation as a scorer, has very few goals scored against him.

FORMER, PRESENT CHAMPS LOOM AS FINALISTS

CORAL GABLES, Fla.—(INS)—A title match between the current and former national women's champion loomed as a possibility today in the annual Miami-Biltmore women's golf tournament as the semi-final round was reached.

The current champion, Miss Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Texas, was favored to win her semi-final match against Shirley Ann Johnson of Winnetka, Ill., and the ex-champion, Miss Patty Berg, was given better than an even chance to overcome her rival today, Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky.

456 STUDENTS OPPOSE ABOLITION OF FOOTBALL

CHICAGO—(INS)—A debate still races among students at the University of Chicago as to whether the board of directors was justified in abolishing the school's participation in intercollegiate football.

This was made known today in a poll of 800 students taken by the Daily Maroon, student newspaper. Of those polled, 456 said they opposed the abolition of football, while 331 said they favored the action, which was taken last December.

'M'COY JUST GOT BREAK,' SAYS PITCHER WIELAND

"McCoy just got a break and so did I," said the young pitcher who played with McCoy for Beaumont in the Texas league. Wieland like McCoy, was granted free agency from Detroit by Commissioner K. M. Landis and now is under contract to the Chicago White Sox.

IT DOES MORE WORK— DOES IT BETTER— DOES IT CHEAPER— How?

● The new Ford tractor with Ferguson system and its wheel-less implements does more work because it has two-plow capacity, provides quick entry and finish, takes less than one minute to attach or detach implements (including row cultivator), insures against usual delays in wet grounds or rocky fields.

It does better work because it minimizes soil packing, maintains even depth of furrow, makes finishing your lands simple and easy, plows and cultivates steep hillsides and narrow places that now you do not even work with horses.

It does work cheaper because the absence of excess weight and its advanced design make for greater fuel and operating economy; its ruggedness and simplicity mean long life; its low first cost means greater savings.

So—see the Ford tractor with Ferguson system for yourself. You'll see things done you never thought possible on a farm! We'll be glad to show you any time.

BUILDING NEWS CHEERS TRADERS IN WEAK MART

Business, War and Election Rumblings Provide Scant Speculative Interest.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Traders continued to pull their punches in today's stock market and price changes generally were about as inconsequential as in the past week.

Some steels, motors and aircrafts dipped fractions while slight improvement was recorded by a few rails, coppers, rubbers and specialties. Dealings were exceptionally sluggish near the second hour.

Inclined to lag were U. S. Steel, General Motors, Montgomery Ward and Douglas Aircraft. Bonds, commodities and foreign securities markets were uneven.

Business news, the European wars and election rumblings provided scant speculative stimulation, brokers said, with the result buyers and sellers seemed unwilling to step out very far with new commitments.

Mildly cheering to market watchers were the figures of the Engineering News-Record estimating construction awards for the week ended Tuesday amounted to $62,942,000 against $32,678,000 in the preceding week and $59,036,000 in the corresponding period last year.

Stressing discontent in commission houses were the statistics of the New York stock exchange disclosing share sales in January were the smallest for this month in 18 years and, for 1939, were lowest since June.

MANSFIELD NEWS IN BRIEF

Builds Residence — A building permit for the construction of a $4,200 residence at 39 East Raleigh avenue, was issued at city hall today to M. L. Schmid, 105 Raleigh avenue.

Meet Tonight—A meeting of the 18 Mansfield Boy Scouts chosen in a recent election to serve as "city officials" during the observance of National Boy Scout week, will be held at 7:30 p. m. today at scout headquarters, Floyd Dent, area executive, announced.

Driver Fined — Raymond G. Pence, Nankin, was fined $10 and costs in municipal court this morning when he pleaded guilty to a charge of unsafe operation of his car. The charge was filed by state highway patrolmen who arrested him on U. S. route 42, north of Mansfield yesterday.

THEATERS

THE most highly publicized romance of the studios for many a moon will be turned into capital in a theatrical venture. The two English players whose spouses divorced them this week so they are now free to marry will take to the Shakespearean boards. You've guessed it—Vivien Leigh and Laurence Olivier will play "Romeo and Juliet" in a 20-weeks itinerary, opening in San Francisco about the middle of March and reaching New York about May 7. Miss Leigh has to finish "Waterloo Bridge" and Olivier must complete "Pride and Prejudice" before starting on the stage venture.

Jane Grows Up.

Tangible proof that little Jane Withers is growing up is found in her new picture, "High School," which will be shown Friday only at the Madison theater. Although Jane is pictured as being more interested in singing, dancing and roping steers with Cliff Edwards on her father's ranch, than in getting an education, her dad sees to it that she has the right start by sending her to high school where she is enrolled as a freshman. Her know-it-all attitude leads to some stiff hazing.

Lone Wolf Adventure.

Another exciting adventure in the life of a fascinating rogue is depicted in "The Lone Wolf Strikes." Michael Lanyard (played by Warren William) is the world's smoothest jewel thief who has been in retirement for a long time, and who comes out of his seclusion only because a friend is murdered. Eric Blore is the butler who welcomes a return to excitement. Alan Baxter, Joan Perry and Astrid Allwyn are in the cast. The picture will be shown tomorrow only at the Ohio.

Tropical Drama.

Another story of the tropics and the emotional hurricane which they seem to arouse in otherwise normal people is told in "Tropic Fury," which the Ritz offers as one of its features Friday and Saturday. Richard Arlen, Andy Devine and Beverly Roberts work out their problem in a dramatic manner. The gay adventurers three—the Three Mesquiteers—make things hum in "The Kansas Terrors."

A Perpetual Star.

Irene Rich, who is sort of a perpetual star and who never seems to grow any older, lends her charm and talent to "Everybody's Hobby," a comedy of everyday life and the present passion for a hobby, which opens tomorrow at the Majestic. With Miss Rich are Henry O'Neill and a cast of young players. The usual week-end western will be George O'Brien in "The Marshal of Mesa City."

Holt and Autry Booked.

Jack Holt, another star who has been in the movies since goodness knows when, portrays a doctor in "Hidden Power," a Park theater attraction. He discovers a powerful formula which can be used as a war implement, but when he finds that it can be a deadly killer he destroys it. Which just begins his big battle with a seifish and ambitious wife. Gertrude Michael is seen as the wife and Dickie Moore as the son of the couple. Gene Autry in "In Old Monterey" is the second film.

Fined For Conduct — Convicted on a charge of disorderly conduct in municipal court today, Helen Zeppito, whose address was not given, was fined $5 and costs. The affidavit was signed by Earl Hawkins, 256 North Franklin avenue.

Honor Past Leaders—Past grand knights of Mansfield council of the Knights of Columbus will be honored at a meeting at 830 p. m. today at the K. of C. home. Arrangements are in charge of W. B. Guisinger, grand knight, and Louis Gerstmeyer, lecturer.

Sent To Workhouse — Pleading guilty in municipal court today to a charge of intoxication, Harry O'Connell, transient, released from the county jail only two days ago after serving out a fine on a similar charge, was fined $50 and costs and ordered committed to the workhouse until the fine and costs are paid.

Fine Suspended — Mannie Culiver, 311 East Third street, was given a $10 suspended fine in municipal court this morning when he was convicted on a charge of careless and reckless driving. Police said he drove through a red traffic signal at East Fourth and Adams street, and ignored a stop sign at East Sixth and North Adams streets, yesterday.

Seven Are Fiction; Sandburg's Four Volume on Lincoln Now Available.

New books at the Public library this week include seven novels and 17 volumes of non-fiction, including four of the Sandburg volumes on Lincoln.

THE DAYS ARE FLED, by Percy Marks, is a very human story of a man who found his fairly successful life lacked real purpose, and of the challenge which came to him in the person of a young musical genius. Stuart Shaw dreamed of peace and quiet, but with Tony Scala as his adopted son, life became even more adventurous. The characters are simply drawn but real, as are the commonplace details of home life.

THE DELECTABLE COUNTRY, by Leland D. Baldwin, is a story of frontier days when Methodist preachers rode the circuits David Braddee, setting out to seek the country of the mind and spirit, found the going tempestuous but in the end he attained the freedom of mental maturity.

BUT YOU ARE YOUNG by Josephine Lawrence, is a novel of youth today, beset with worries and economic burdens but yearning for happiness and fulfillment in life Kelsie Wright wanted to be married but her family depended on her pay check. The story adds another laurel to Miss Lawrence's ability to portray humanity.

$177,000 PAID TO JOBLESS OF COUNTY IN 1939

Handley Releases Annual Report of Bureau; 1,888 Share in Loss-of-Job Payments.

Mansfield business was stimulated last year by $177,000 which poured into trade channels from unemployment compensation benefits paid to jobless workers in Richland county.

This was revealed in an annual report of district activities released today by C. W. Handley, manager of the Mansfield branch office of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation.

Handley's report showed that a total of $177,018.52 was paid to 1,888 eligible Mansfield and Richland county workers who experienced total or partial loss of earnings during 1939.

The report, which covers the first year of operations of the BUC, disclosed that 546 claimants received their maximum of 16 weeks' benefits during the year, while 1,342 claimants received one or more benefits checks, but had not received their maximum benefits at the close of 1939.

The average aggregate payment to workers in the Mansfield district last year was $93 76 as compared with a state average aggregate of $106.82, Handley said

The average weekly payment in the district for total unemployment was $9.39 while partial unemployment benefits averaged $5.58. The state average for total unemployment was $10.25 and partial unemployment $5.05.

Handley reported that a total of 1,875 unemployed persons in the Mansfield district were found jobs in private industry by the Ohio State employment service which is operated by the BUC, during the year. This was an increase in placements of 1,269 over the previous year, Handley said.

FIGHT COLDS

by helping nature build up your cold-fighting resistance

IF you suffer one cold right after another, here's sensational news! Mrs. Elizabeth Vickery writes: "I used to catch colds very easily. Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery helped to strengthen me just splendidly. I ate better, had more stamina, and was troubled very little with colds."

This great medicine, formulated by a practicing physician, helps combat colds this way: (1) It stimulates the appetite. (2) It promotes flow of gastric juices. Thus you eat more, your digestion improves; your body gets greater nourishment which helps nature build up your cold-fighting resistance.

So successful has Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery been that over 30,000,000 bottles have already been used. Proof of its remarkable benefits. Get Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery from your druggist today, or write Dr. Pierce, Dept. L-52, Buffalo, N. Y., for generous free sample. Don't suffer unnecessarily from colds.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1940.

While the office is seeking the man it naturally has to dodge a lot of fellows who are looking for it.

The "good neighbor" policy will not become world-wide until after it becomes more generally practiced by individuals and communities.

With leap year entering its second month there's not the slightest indication of any matrimonial ventures hereabouts being attributable thereto.

Censorship Includes Weather

THE recent cold spell which brought suffering to various parts of this country seems to have been quite general in the northern hemisphere. It was probably as severe in Canada as in corresponding areas of Europe. But hardly anywhere outside of the United States was there any publicity for this Jack Frost masterpiece.

The same military censorship that prevents the United States from getting weather news from Canada was clamped down on the British Isles. Only at the end of January has it been revealed that the winter there broke a record of 46 years for coldness and suffering. Hundreds of people died from the blizzards. There was also great suffering in France, and the troops in the trenches had a hard time keeping warm in their frozen dugouts. It must have been even worse in Germany, although no information was forthcoming from that country. A little news leaked out regarding the hardship caused by the bitter weather in northern Russia, especially in Moscow, and on the Finnish battle front.

Only in one country was there full publicity for this epochal spell of weather. That was in Finland. The Finns could stand it, and weeks of 20 to 50 degrees below zero played into their hands.

Franklin's Loan Fund

EVEN the wise Benjamin Franklin was unable to plan his philanthropy 150 years in advance. He set up a fund in Philadelphia that many years ago, supposedly for the benefit of young workmen. The restrictions imposed on borrowers have become so hard to fulfill that few loans have been made in the last fifty years.

Franklin stipulated that a borrower must be a "young married artificer" under 25 years of age. (An artificer was a skilled workman whose trade required an extensive period of training.) Further, the borrower must have served a regular indentured apprenticeship in Philadelphia, pay 5 per cent interest, borrow no more than $500, put up as security a first mortgage upon real estate in the city, and produce "two reputable citizens who will testify to his moral character."

There aren't so many fellows of 25 today who have had such an apprenticeship or can present such security. And the amount seems to be less than many borrowers need. The board of city trusts has recently succeeded in having a court change some of the provisions. Now the borrower may be skilled or unskilled, male or female. He may borrow as much as $3,000 at only 4 per cent interest.

It will be interesting to see how much the fund is used hereafter.

Where Union Isn't Needed

WHILE so much emphasis is being placed on labor unions, and the internal troubles between A. F. of L. and C. I. O. leadership, it is interesting to note that in at least one recent instance employes voted more than 4 to 1 against tying up with any union.

This was in the case of the Endicott-Johnson shoe factories, in Binghamton, N. Y., and the adjoining suburbs of Johnson City and Endicott City, in which the combined vote for union affiliation was under 3,000 while nearly 13,000 employes favored continuance of the present method of direct dealing between employes and employer.

George F. Johnson, head of this company, once was a bench foreman in a bankrupt shoe factory which employed only a couple of hundred men. Today more than 16,000 are at work and the enterprise is valued at $36,000,000. His theory has been that workers who are well treated do not want, or need, unionization, and this theory has been carried into practice to such extent that cordial relations have extended through almost five decades.

Movie Jobs for Children

MANEUVERS of parents to get their children into the movies in Hollywood are dreadful," reports a parent who has just been successfully engaged in such a maneuver for a four-year-old. "To choose the child for a single small part in a movie the director must face a line of mothers a block long. And the worst part is facing all the parents except those of the one chosen."

Maybe even that isn't the worst of it. Maybe the worst part is what such public efforts to exploit young children do to the children themselves.

And it isn't merely that the overwhelming majority of them are doomed to failure and disappointment. The worst thing might be the false ideas of life imposed on them at such an early age, and the disillusionment and discontent brought upon them at a time when they should be living a normal life and acquiring normal ideas.

The Free Way of Life

ONE of the greatest evils of war is what it does to civilian minds. People at home may be more partisan than soldiers at the front. In adopting defensive measures they tend to suspend or destroy rights which civilization has fought long to establish.

When we get into a war, our constitutional "Bill of Rights" is handled roughly. Remember the World war, and how official or self-appointed censors started cracking down on free speech, free press, free assembly and other cherished rights? The rights were still there, unrepealed, in our basic law, but they vanished largely from current practice.

Things are better so far in the war epidemic that seems to be again sweeping the world. But this is an ideological war as well as a military war, and we are swept into the fighting area. And while we are fighting to preserve our basic liberties we need to be very careful not to lose the most precious of them.

Freedom is not just something written in a constitution or printed in a book. It is a way of life that has to be practiced in order to survive. And those who interfere with other people's mental and spiritual freedom are in danger of losing their own.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—In spite of British secrecy on trade statistics, evidence has accumulated here that England is fighting so hard for her old markets that she is even cutting down on production of war goods so she can make things to sell abroad.

A government economist charged with observing these things said England had pulled numerous plants out of war production to fill orders for foreign goods.

Even the rationing of British subjects and the restraints on purchase of non-essentials, he said, is in large part directed at preserving the output of exportable goods. It has other purposes, too. Britain doesn't want her subjects to spend their war wages foolishly. British industrial wages are in large part pegged to prices. If British wage earners begin buying too lavishly of luxury and non-essential goods, prices will rise. That will force up wages. In turn rising labor costs will force up prices—and so on. The old spiral leads to inflation.

The British want none of that. Moreover, they want their wage earners to save their increased earnings. It will be nice to have them able to buy war bonds.

Little Destruction.

BRITAIN wants no silk-shirt craze to sweep the country as it did the United States in the war years. That sends gallons of gold out of the country for fashionable frivolities just when the country needs raw materials she can make into things to drop on Germany or sell to neutrals.

What has made it possible to return part of the great English factory system to manufacture of export goods is the strange nature of the war. There has been no enormous destruction such as might have been expected by this time. No trains have been blown up. No columns of trucks have been destroyed.

Britain expanded her plants in the expectation that there would be lots of shooting by now, and much destruction. There hasn't been much, so England is able to direct her attention to saving overseas trade which she might have expected to surrender to the U. S. or Japan if the war had become really explosive.

British Trade Climbs.

HERE is an indication what is happening. Normally England imports $324,000,000 of goods a month, exports $157,000,000. For two months after the war started in September both imports and exports here were cut almost in half. By November the conviction had grown in Britain that there was no need to cut off her customers. She would keep her own old customers and in addition get those from which Germany had been cut off. That was especially true in South America.

Promptly British trade climbed back to normal and above. By December it was better than normal, with imports at $387,000,000 and exports at $180,000,000. Returns from shipping and insurance handsomely helped balance her trade.

She is engaging in direct barter in many instances, just as Germany did. Without stinting her primary war production, England is able to supply machine tools and railroad equipment in return for essential raw materials. The raw materials she has sought since November are the kind which can be converted either into essential war goods or into export goods. She is using mighty little shipping space to supply fancy goods for her wage earners.

England seems to figure that when the war ends she will have world markets already at hand to take up the slack caused by disbanding her armies. In time of war, England is preparing for peace.

Harrison Economy Plan 'Too Late'

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

SENATOR PAT HARRISON'S plan to get the federal government's expenditures down to a figure not exceeding its income is so good that nobody is in a position to find fault with it except on one ground—the ground that it's too late for consideration at this session of congress.

That is to say, that's the nominal ground. The real ground is that adoption of it would involve economies. To be sure, the legislators all are in favor of economy—in general. But almost no legislator favors economy in his particular bailiwick. Possibly Senator Harrison does, in Mississippi, but, if so, he's a rare exception.

Initially the various cabinet departments and independent executive offices (like the Interstate Commerce and Federal Trade commissions and 50-odd other ones) dope out what each must have to carry it through the ensuing fiscal year.

These estimates (or demands) are turned in to the budget bureau. The bureau compares the total with the amount of money it reckons that Uncle Sam will collect in taxes during the corresponding period. It finds that this total is away in excess of tax collections. So it pares down here and there. Then it turns its own totals over to the White House, the cabinet departments and independent offices meanwhile yowling that they're being, each of them, crucified.

The president makes some more slashes, after which he passes the figures on to congress.

The Two Houses.

First they go to the house of representatives, for the lower congressional chamber initiates all financial legislation.

It's a cinch that the representatives won't like the reductions. Each individual representative supports reduction in all the other representatives' allowances, but none supports reduction in his own district. Consequently, helping one another, collectively they're opposed to much economy.

At the present session they're a bit more economical than usual, because there's been so much talk about huge federal spending, and deficits. They've even whittled some of the president's items, but that doesn't often happen.

The representatives having finished with it, the money bill is delivered to the senate.

Ordinarily, the senate is slightly tighter-fister than the representatives. Why? Why, because ALL the representatives face the voters in an election year, like this. But the senators are voted on only one-third at a time. Therefore, two-thirds of them always are comparatively independent, and can cut and slash quite freely.

There always is more or less difference of opinion between the two houses. So they choose a joint conference committee, which finally hits on a mass of compromise figures. They never are satisfactory to anybody. Money bills, as ultimately passed, invariably are weird hodge-podges.

Pat Harrison's Plan.

Senator Harrison, who is chairman of the upper chamber's finance committee, wants the representatives and senators to do their conferring as soon as congress gets the departments' and independent offices' original estimates, revised by the president.

He proposes a group of 12 senators and 12 representatives (all real fiscal experts) to get together an inter-house schedule and shoot it through the two chambers simultaneously.

This procedure, he argues, would save time, for one thing. The two houses' fixers would have an apportunity to consult with the miscellaneous departmental and independent official spokesmen and the White House, to ascertain the houses' respective views, and to cough up a scientifically-prepared program that all hands could more or less concur in, eliminating an infinity of last-minute wrangling, and all-around sorenesses.

And it might result in a few genuine economies.

But objectors probably are right in their contention that the scheme's too late to be put into effect at this congressional session. It would involve a tremendous amount of negotiating.

Furthermore, individual representatives and senators are afraid of Pat Harrison. They're afraid he aims at a system that will result in some sure-enough economies. That would be o. k., on a collective basis, but no representative or senator is willing to have his especial bailiwick economized.

They say they object because it's too late at this session. The chances are that it always will be too late, on into eternity.

One-Track Minds.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

DON'T speak lightly of "one-track minds"—. Don't conclude that they're vague, weak affairs, not to be taken seriously—

Respect them and look out for them. They are always powerful—they are sometimes extremely dangerous. And you lay yourself open to their danger if you underestimate them.

"But they have only one idea," you say, proud of your many-idea intellect.

That is exactly why they are powerful. They HAVE only one idea—but they back that one idea with all they have. The man with one idea doesn't scatter his forces. He concentrates on one issue and keeps everlastingly at it. His attack may seem trivial, but he never stops—and he wears his opponent away by that very persistence. He has it all over the chap with a dozen irons in the fire . . . who gives but a fraction of his energy to each project.

And the one-track mind is often dangerous, because it never sees, or tries to see, the other fellow's side of the picture. It has only one desire, and if you get in the way of that desire that's YOUR bad luck. For the one-track mind, as a general rule, has no more regard for your rights than a mad dog.

You've seen it happening dozens of times in your life . . . perhaps in your own family.

Big lives being undermined by little lives—

Generous, rich souls being devastated by wizened, spiteful spirits—

Strong, fine men wrecked by nagging, nit-wit wives—

Noble, brave women broken by whimpering, pee-wee males—

How does it happen?

IT HAPPENS BECAUSE THE BIG NATURE DOESN'T TAKE THE LITTLE NATURE SERIOUSLY.

"ANYTHING FOR PEACE."

It happens because the big nature thinks the tiny demands, the querulous complaints, "don't really matter."

"Anything for peace," says the big nature, smiling amiably. "After all, it takes so little to make them happy—I'd be a brute to refuse when I have so much—when I'm so strong."

So the ignoble compromises and concessions begin . . . partly out of pity . . . partly out of good-natured condescension.

And presently the Big Nature is picked clean—and the Little Nature goes gouging merrily on, while everyone gives way to its "one-track mind."

Don't underestimate the one-track mind. Arm yourself against it. And, if you're smart, borrow a few of its tricks.

Ohio Deprived of Own Money.

When President Roosevelt vetoed the $1,338,000 payment authorized by congress to the Ohio old age pension fund he deprived the taxpayers of the state of the right to benefit from their own money.

The New Deal has collected hundreds of millions of dollars from Ohio citizens to keep its many expensive innovations going and has depended to a large extent upon Ohio to help pay the freight for old age pensions and other of its humanitarian ideas in other states too poor to meet their rightful share of the cost.

The $1,338,000 in question was withheld from Ohio in 1938 because in the New Deal's opinion the state was disbursing funds without regard to certain standards set up by the federal government. This was never proved except in the judgment of the federal social security board. Copley Press Dispatch.

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—That visit which Representative Melvin J. Maas, of Minnesota, made to the White House the other day was not a social call.

The hard-hitting World war flyer is ranking Republican member of the house naval affairs committee, and the clue to his talk with Roosevelt is that bill for drastic reorganization of the navy which has been gathering cobwebs in the committee.

Roosevelt favors the measure and so does Maas—himself an old foe of bureaucrats and red tape. But naval brasshats and certain Democratic bigwigs on the committee do not.

The brasshats want the bill shelved on the plea that the navy will reform itself. And the Democratic members of the committee are scarcely playing ball with them by stalling action on the legislation. This is directly counter to the president's ideas. He wants a vigorous broom applied to the obsolete and inefficient navy system, and believes the only way it can be done is by congressional act.

That's why he summoned Maas—to ask him to get behind the reorganization measure and to force action on it.

"That's right down my alley, Mr. President," responded Maas. I'm for a sweeping clean-up and modernization of the navy, and I'll go down the line with you 100 per cent on that proposition. If you'll back me up, I'm sure we can get results."

Roosevelt assured Maas of his full support and said he would confer with him again soon.

Painting Roosevelt.

A CUBAN artist sat in a White House anteroom, waiting for his appointment to see the president. He was animated and eager. The president was to sit for a portrait, and the portrait would be placed in the senate chamber in Havana. It was the opportunity of a lifetime.

Across the room sat another man. He too was waiting eagerly.

Presently General Watson, presidential secretary, entered the room. "All right," he said, "are you gentlemen ready? Now which one is the Cuban?"

Dr. Esteban Valderrama rose. Watson greeted him and turned to the other man. "And you are Dr. . . .?" Up rose Dr. Oskar Stoessel of Vienna, presenting his card.

"All right," said Watson, "now you gentlemen can have an hour with the president. He'll be working at his desk, and you mustn't ask any questions. Just go ahead with your drawing, and make the most of it."

The two men stared at each other. Each had been given an appointment separately, each had supposed he would be alone with the president.

"What is your medium?" said Stoessel to Valderrama.

"I work in oil," said the Cuban. "And you?"

"Etching," said the Viennese.

"Come along," interposed Watson. "The president is ready."

So the two artists shook hands, picked up their portfolios, and marched into the president's office together.

McNutt "Purists."

CERTAIN Indiana followers of presidential aspirant Paul McNutt have quietly launched a drive to clean up the famous Two Per Cent Club, on the theory that a voluntary purge would be a lot happier than one made by the law.

Leader of the "purists" is Democratic State Chairman Fred Bays, hustling ex-chief of Sullivan county. Bays was made state chairman last year after Attorney General Omer S. Jackson, close pal of bulky National Committeeman Frank McHale, was eased out under heavy pressure from the congressional delegation.

Since then Bays and Clarence U. Gramelspacher, Jasper manufacturer who replaced "Bo" Elder, another McHale intimate, as treasurer of the club, have been trying to wield the broom, but with indifferent results—due to two factors.

One was the serious illness of Wayne Coy, confidential secretary to McNutt and a vigorous "purist." The other was the undercover obstruction of Dick Heller, executive (patronage) secretary of Governor Townsend. Heller is a McHaleite, and with Coy out of the picture saw to it that the reformers did not get the ear of McNutt and Townsend.

The recent disclosure of federal income tax investigation has given new life to the "purists!" campaign, and they are rallying their forces for a big showdown. One of their first demands is the removal of Heller as patronage dispenser.

Note—Although John L. Lewis blasted McNutt, Governor Townsend was informally invited to address the miners' convention. He declined on the plea that he was too busy with state affairs.

Trick Bombshell.

SEC CHAIRMAN JERRY FRANK caused a near riot among his utility listeners with one part of his speech before the American Management association in New York.

He was explaining calmly that the SEC merely enforced laws enacted by congress, when suddenly he launched a scathing castigation of utility holding companies and their manipulators. "Creatures of legal ingenuity," "despoilers," "blood-suckers" and similar searing terms sputtered from his lips.

"What was needed," he declared, "was to take from the backs of the clean, honestly operated operating companies of this country these leeches and bloodsucking holding companies, who performed no services but who were milking to death the local operating companies under their control, and were milking those who had invested their hard-earned money in the securities of these local operating companies.

Amid a tense silence that could have been cut with a knife, Chairman Frank paused, looked around at the angry utility moguls. Then with a broad smile he said:

"Gentlemen, I've been plagiarizing. What I just read you is not my own. I lifted it from a speech by Congressman Samuel Rayburn (Democratic floor leader) made in the house in support of the utility holding company act on June 27, 1935."

Merry-Go-Round.

GLENN FRANK'S Republican platform committee will supplement its report with further reports from six of its nine regional sub-groups. It emphasizes that the report is not a "platform" but a survey of conditions and problems for use as a basis for a platform by the national convention. . . . One interesting news item that did not come out of the recent Madison, Wis., meeting of the liberal American Students congress was that one student delegate was a granddaughter of the late, ultra-conservative Justice Pierce Butler. She was Miss Mary Avaline Butler, attending the convention as the representative of Sarah Lawrence college, fashionable girls' school in Bronxville, N. Y.

Winter Morning

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

IT IS four below zero at our farm. The window panes are frosted heavily except at the very top. When I open the kitchen door the frigid blast blows visible waves of steam over me. I gather kindling from the pile upon the back porch and replenish the smouldering wood fire. Bluish smoke rises from the hearth like incense. Coals begin to flicker and simmer, then a merry little flame appears. Soon the wood is wrapped in roaring flames and pleasing warmth begins to permeate the kitchen.

As I go to the barn my neighbor drives down the road. His radiator is steaming heavily and the exhaust emits a trail of restless whiteness that quickly vanishes. As he drives through an occasional light drift, his car entirely disappears in whirling gusts of snow.

On the slope above the house, the brambles and last year's weeds shiver in the wind and make plaintive music, sometimes treble, sometimes bass, and then shrill high notes like children weeping. Up above, the taller trees make heavy sounds, like thunder. It is as though an unseen chorus chanted the voices ebbing and flowing, rising and falling, with an occasional bit of impelling melody, even as the pipes of Pan.

Within the barn the heavy wind has blown fine bits of snow in little ridges across the western mow. The hand hewn timbers of the framework creak, rocked by the fitful gusts. Hungry sparrows perch on the cross beams and rafter plates with ruffled feathers. Where two beams join, upon the shadowy side, I glimpse the wise-looking face of my friend the screetch owl. He seems disturbed at the growing light, for it means his feasting time is past, and mice have gone into hiding.

Beneath in a stall, the goats bleat loudly for their morning feed. The older, heavier Toggenburg gives the nimbler white goat a none to gentle push and Nan frisks and climbs unhesitatingly into the high antique hay rack from which horses used to pull their roughage. From there she impudently bleats at me, to draw my attention.

The white hens sing and scratch within the littered floor of the warm enclosure. A few that venture outside when the door is opened, stand first on one foot, then on the other in the wind. I return with the report—"Four below, and all's well! How soon is breakfast?"

Dental Clinic Directors Set Up Three Committees.

Taking further steps to establish a dental clinic for indigent school children, the board of directors of the Mansfield Dental Clinic association today had voted to set up three committees in order to extend their organization work.

With Mrs. J. Ward Ingraham, president of the association presiding, the board decided to name membership, business and publicity committees, the chairmen of which are to be named later.

The association is comprised of delegates from the various woman's organizations throughout the city whose aims are to establish and maintain a dental clinic where indigent school children may have their teeth taken care of without cost.

Liederkranz To Offer Prizes To Mansfield Babies

Mansfield's prettiest and healthiest babies will compete for honors in these classifications in an event which will be sponsored by the Mansfield Liederkranz the latter part of next month.

The Liederkranz is sponsoring the event which includes a Mardi Gras and Coronation ball, the proceeds to be divided between the club and several Mansfield welfare organizations.

Mayor W. J. Locke will act as honorary chairman, with Paul C. Wolf, president of the club, as general chairman and Attorney Jacob Wagenhals as vice chairman.

The babies, according to Wagenhals, will be chosen strictly on merits with no voting necessary. A young woman to rule over the "Coronation ball" will be selected by votes which will be secured by selling tickets to the ball.

An office which will handle the business end of the event is located in the Mansfield Savings bank building.

Vendol Proved Wonderful for Retired Mansfield Machinist

Tells how sharp pains in back and legs were relieved as well as other troubles. Vendol is the medicine that is helping many people in this city.

MR JOHN F. BEAR

Many people here in town have found that Vendol is the very medicine they needed because it brought splendid relief and made them feel so much better. Often they give permission to publish their experience so that other sufferers will be led to give this great compound a trial. For instance, Mr. John F. Bear, of 600 Lexington Ave., Mansfield, who was a machinist for years at the Ohio Suspender Co., gave his experience to the Vendol Man in Central Drug Store as follows:

"I was constipated all the time and also needed a diuretic action on my kidneys, and this condition caused a lot of suffering by sending sharp pains across my back and running down through my legs, and sometimes made me feel stiff so I could hardly stoop or bend over, and many nights these pains kept me awake till late hours

"The constipation also made me feel bilious, gave me a coated tongue, and little spots floated before my eyes and sometimes I'd awaken with a headache and feeling like I hadn't had a wink of sleep.

"I was advised to try Vendol for these troubles so got some along with a box of the little Vendol laxative tablets, and this medicine gave the most complete and satisfying relief from constipation I had known for a long time; then, I soon noticed the aches and pains passed off, and this relief from constipation and the diuretic action of my kidneys also relieved those other annoying troubles that had made me so miserable.

"I think Vendol is a grand medicine so am glad to give a public recommendation for it."

If you who read this, are suffering from the same troubles due to the same causes described here, and will come to Central Drug Store, Cor. Main & 4th Sts.; ask for me, the Vendol Man, and I will explain all about my great medicine which is made mostly from extracts of Roots and Herbs, and tell you honestly if I believe it will help you. Samples are free. Most all leading druggists sell Vendol.

Papleus Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.

The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did — even look healthy and strong, yet — you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, dopey, tired and peplees.

Low blood count means you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.

Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. They are world famous for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles. Then with your blood on its way, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams Pink Pills today.

REDS RENEWING FINN ATTACKS IN FAR NORTH

Defenders Claim All Drives Have Been Repulsed in Spite of Intensity.

to improve the soldiers' winter equipment, and to train the officers in the methods of winter warfare so effectively employed by the Finns.

Finnish forces were reported holding their own on all sectors. On the Salla front in the northeast, Soviet shock troops unleashed a new offensive in an attempt to outflank the Finns.

All Lines Intact, Say Finn Leaders.

HELSINKI —(AP)— The Finnish command insists that its forces are holding defense lines decided upon immediately after the Soviet Russian invasion started two months ago.

The declarations came from General Hugo Oesterman, commander of the army under Baron Gustaf Mannerheim, at his headquarters "somewhere in Finland"—accompanied by reports of a fierce Russian aerial smash at the nerve center of northern Finland's communications and of a Finnish victory over a Siberian ski battalion.

Twenty-seven Red army planes, attacking in waves, were reported to have bombed Rovaniemi yesterday, leaving 15 dead and 60 wounded. Among the casualties, according to the Finnish report, were children and nurses. A hospital was said to have been shattered by bombs.

One hundred fifty bombs were reported dropped on Rovaniemi, railway and highway junction in the northern "waistline" part of Finland, in the two-hour attack.

Trouble Confronts Balkan Conference.

BELGRADE, Jugoslavia—(U.P.)—A possible split in the Balkan entente conference which may result in dissolution of the entente itself was foreseen in some quarters here today 24 hours before the conference is scheduled to convene.

Delegates of the four little entente nations, gathering for a meeting tomorrow under the watchful eyes of Germany and Italy, indicated that they would do their utmost to safeguard their neutrality and to resist alignment with any faction or bloc in European politics.

The entente nations are Jugoslavia, Rumania, Turkey and Greece. Bulgaria will be represented by a detached observer, and diplomatic envoys of Germany and Italy will follow proceedings with the greatest interest.

The Jugoslav government organ Politika said that Italy places importance on improving relations between Rumania and Hungary as a means of entrenching a Balkan bloc against possible Soviet expansion into southeastern Europe.

Politika implied that Italy does not regard the entente as equipped to deal adequately with Balkan problems because Hungary is not a member and Bulgaria is not represented officially.

House Debates British 'Economic Front.'

LONDON—(AP)—Great Britain's economic front came under heavy fire in her own house of commons today with a formal labor party demand for appointment of an economic minister to the war cabinet.

In probably the most important test of strength between supporters of the Chamberlain government and its opposition since the outbreak of the war with Germany, Laborites contended that organization of the vital economic phase of the struggle had lagged behind the rest of the country's war effort.

Support for the cabinet change cut across all party lines with the even strongly pro-government London Times joining in the chorus calling for correction of what it called "inadequate representation" of the economic side in the war cabinet.

TOLEDO PERILED

Gas Workers' Union Strikes; Emergency Crews at Work.

TOLEDO—(AP)—The CIO gas workers union struck at 7 a. m. today against the co-owned Ohio Fuel Gas and Northwestern Ohio Natural Gas companies.

Police reserves stood by as last-minute efforts to avert the strike failed. The union last night unanimously voted to walk out, and a final conference with company officials ended in a deadlock at 2:15 a. m.

E. W. Tharpe, general manager of Ohio properties, said emergency crews were being brought in from other cities to maintain local plants and service. He explained cold weather necessitated shutting off gas to industries.

Walter Ross, president of the local, said the gas company had rejected a union offer to furnish skeleton crews to man the local distribution points.

SHELBY—Three new directors have been named to the board of the Shelby Better Business club, George Hoffman, secretary of the club, disclosed today. The election of the directors took place last week, Hoffman said, and the ballots were opened at a special meeting of the directors last night at city hall.

The new directors chosen for three-year terms were F. J. Kotz, Leo Shaw and H. D. Shreffler. They succeeded C. L. Beal, Julius Sutter and Chester Monn.

TRAILER TRUCK HITS BUILDINGS

Crash Kills Driver, Injures Helper; Vehicle Burst Into Flames.

PITTSBURGH —(AP)—A 10-ton trailer truck racing out of control down an icy curve smashed into two buildings and burst into flame, killing the helper and injuring the driver.

Robert Kiser, 24, Cleveland, met death in the crash last night in suburban Wilkinsburg. Driver Clarence Moyar, 46, also of Cleveland, was pulled from the tangled mass of steel and removed to a hospital with a head injury.

Flames from the truck's broken gasoline tank spread through the cargo and into the buildings, causing an estimated $5,000 damage.

LEAVES JAIL

Husband Released In Assault Case On Two Conditions.

Dewey Griggs, 136 North Weldon avenue, was released from city jail yesterday afternoon where he had been held since last Friday when he was arrested on a charge of assault and battery filed by his wife.

His release came after Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch had given him a suspended sentence of six months in the county jail. Griggs, a taxi driver, must meet two conditions set up by the court to keep out of jail; he must refrain from molesting his wife and he must pay her $50 a month for her maintenance. The court warned him that failure to comply with either would put his jail sentence into effect.

led a number of minor collisions due to the slippery streets and roads, but in the greater part of them no one was hurt seriously.

The same theory was advanced by Corp. C. L. Strayer of the state highway patrol who said the extreme cold reduced the number of cars on the roads and resulted in more caution in driving.

Although Richland county kept its slate clean last month, two county residents died in traffic in other counties. Harry W. Friend, 49, of Olivesburg became Huron county's first fatality of the year Tuesday when he was fatally injured in a crash at the junction of routes 13 and 224.

Rheuben Ernsberger, 72, Mansfield, died last Sunday of injuries he received Jan. 26 in a traffic accident near Fremont.

Last year Richland county marked up its first traffic fatality on Jan. 15. Two years ago one person was killed in January and three years ago three had been killed by Feb. 1.

PROBES FIRE

Sheriff Holds Two Men in Death of Couple During Blaze.

WEST UNION, O.—(INS)—Two West Union men were held by authorities today for questioning about a fire Tuesday in which Graven Grooms, 33, and his wife, Gwendolyn, 38, burned to death in their one-room cabin.

The men were arrested at the request of Sheriff George Baldridge of Adams county who investigated the fire. Relatives had told Coroner E. T. Gibboney that the Groomses had $320 in their possession the night before the fire. Only a few coins were found in the ashes of their cabin and authorities suspected foul play. No charges had been filed against the suspects.

ACTS TODAY ON WAGES, HOURS

adopted and replied to the criticism of AFL President William Green and of some newspapers.

He said that Green's attack on the union's assessments "proved him to be a greater ingrate than was ever considered possible" because the "check-off kept him for about 25 years and made it possible for him to become president of the American Federation of Labor."

"If it weren't for the check-off, Bill Green today would be a preacher somewhere in Ohio," Kennedy continued.

Green formerly was secretary-treasurer of the union.

Discussing the union's recent $2 per month special assessment, Kennedy said, "statements that it is to be used for political purposes are not true."

He declared that the union's dues are low and its fiscal policies are "above board."

Newspapers, he said, "blow hot and blow cold," attacking the union on one occasion for having supported President Roosevelt's re-election campaign, with funds, and on the other for not supporting the president.

International auditors of the union reported today a Dec. 1, 1939, treasury balance of $2,526,750.

The auditors reported income of $1,151,757 from June 1, 1939, to Nov. 30, and expenditures of $1,502,388, including loans of $304,992 to 16 district organizations.

A loan of $178,652 to district 19 was the largest and it was believed to reflect unusual expenditures for relief in the Harlan county, Ky., coal fields after the rest of the miners returned to work under union shop agreement.

daughter as photographers prepared to set off their flashlight bulbs.

"There will be no photographs while Mrs. Barrymore is in the picture," declared Diana. And there weren't.

Later, after tempers had cooled, Elaine and John had an earnest conversation of a half hour with as much privacy as a night club full of gawkers permits.

It took a cordon of police to get John past the autograph hunters and inside the theater a bare half hour before curtain time.

The ermine-clad audience of celebrities, some of whom had paid $25 for $5.50 opening night ducats, waited expectantly for some of the famous Barrymore aberrations from the script. There were only a few mild ad libs, however.

The unemployed thespain in the Hamlet tights, shouting the famous "to be or not to be" soliloquay, appeared from nowhere as John was taking his final solo curtain call. He was quickly yanked from the stage and booked on a disorderly conduct charge.

son and President Charles A. Beardsley of the American Bar association who gathered with representatives of congress to commemorate the first supreme court session in 1790 when Chief Justice John Jay was forced to adjourn the meeting because only three judges — one less than a quorum—were present.

Seven associate justices sat beside the chief justice and members of the judiciary committees of the senate and house were present. Other members of the bar and patriotic organizations paid tribute at the graves of former justices whose work on the bench, Hughes said, "safeguards the reign of law as opposed to debotic will."

"Democracy is a most hopeful way of life, but its promise of liberty and of human betterment will be but idle words save as the ideals of justice, not only between man and man but between government and citizens, are held supreme," the chief justice said.

Thousands more gallons of New Super-Shell and New Shell Premium rushed to meet demand!

We knew the New Super-Shell and the New Shell Premium were the finest motor fuels ever offered you. But who could tell that the news would travel so fast? Our refineries are working night and day. Tank cars are on the way with thousands more gallons of these great new gasolines! Your neighborhood Shell dealer is ready to serve you.

Quick Facts on NEW SUPER-SHELL

Q. Is it higher in anti-knock?
A. Yes—much! Try NEW SUPER-SHELL on the steepest hill you can find. You can feel the difference!

Q. Is NEW SUPER-SHELL quick-starting?
A. Yes! NEW SUPER-SHELL is the fastest starting regular grade of motor fuel we've ever made! Check it with a stop watch!

Q. How about economy?
A. Just test it! NEW SUPER-SHELL is made by Shell's "BALANCING PROCESS," so the improvement in performance qualities means increased savings on Stop-and-Go—the costliest kind of driving.

Q. Does NEW SUPER-SHELL cost more to make?
A. Yes—but costs you no more to buy.

Quick Facts on NEW SHELL PREMIUM

Q. Is its anti-knock stepped up?
A. Decidedly! If your car's anti-knock requirement is far above the average, NEW SHELL PREMIUM will amaze you with its smooth, steady, knockless power!

TWO NEW TRIUMPHS FOR SHELL'S SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH

NEW SUPER-SHELL and NEW SHELL PREMIUM are the latest achievements of the Company . . .

FIRST TO SPONSOR ANTI-KNOCK RESEARCH . . . Under the sponsorship of Shell, Harry Ricardo discovered principles that made high compression engines possible. His experiments in flame propagation and action of aromatic hydrocarbons led to the development of Shell's "BALANCING PROCESS" in refining.

FIRST TO PRODUCE 100 OCTANE GASOLINE . . . Shell first produced 100 Octane Gasoline commercially . . . instrumental in bringing aviation to its present high development. Shell produced approximately 50% of all aircraft fuel used in the United States in 1939.

FIRST TO RE-FORM GASOLINE—and NOW Shell's "BALANCING PROCESS" saves you more money on Stop-and-Go . . . The refining process that makes NEW SUPER-SHELL and NEW SHELL PREMIUM possible is Shell's "BALANCING PROCESS." There are many different tests by which the performance of a gasoline can be measured. "Balancing" means that no one performance characteristic is stressed at the expense of another—we don't "rob Peter to pay Paul." As a result every drop of both these fuels is usable in your motor. Waste is reduced. Economy increased. Stop-and-Go costs you less.

To get full advantage of these new balanced motor fuels, do not dilute them with ordinary gasolines.

Folks are sure enthusiastic about these two new gasolines. I think you will be too, after you've tested a tankful . . . Drive in today.

COLD FAILS TO HALT BUILDING

City Permits for January Hit $85,275; Humphryes Addition Helps Swell Total.

The extremely cold weather of January, which ordinarily slows up building activities, had little effect this year according to figures for the month announced today at city building.

Permits totaling $85,275 were issued during January this year, and although that is dwarfed by the $463,600 in permits issued last January, the 1939 figure included $400,000 for the new Johnny Appleseed Junior high school, contracts for which were let in that month.

That left $63,600 for the permits in private enterprise, $21,675 under the figure for the first month of this year.

The past month's figures were swelled by the permit for a new building issued to the Humphryes Manufacturing company which was for $54,000. Six new residences totaled $28,500. There were 12 permits for new building and four additions and remodeling.

NEANDERTHALER

Find Fourth Skull of Ancient Race in Italy.

ROME — (AP) — Monte Circeo, a rocky promontory on the Mediterranean, 50 miles south of Rome, has yielded Italy's fourth Neanderthal skull and the promontory's second.

The skull was found in a network of caves in excavations for a new wine cellar by a resort hotel. It is described as in an excellent state of preservation, complete with lower jaw and several teeth.

Havana stood as a city fully 100 years before the first houses were built in what was to become New York.

BREEZY BULLETS

CHICAGO—(INS)—Anthony Pinzine can't pay alimony right now because he has a sore throat that needs expensive medical care. He has the store throat, he told Judge Rudolph Desort, because his wife, Bertha, shot four bullets at him. Bertha's rebuttal was that she only shot at him twice. Judge Desort decided the Pinzines should stop fighting over the temporary alimony and make arrangements for a divorce.

For Congressman 17th District

Republican Floor Leader Ohio House of Representatives

Nominate and Elect

J. Harry McGregor

A Forthright, Hard-Working Representative of the People

J. Harry McGregor's neighbors have always liked his square-shooting methods in the lumber and contracting business. Fellow members of his church, lodges, Grange, Farm Bureau and other community affiliations discovered his ability to work in the public interest. After filling many offices of trust and responsibility, he was elected to the State Legislature in 1934. Re-elected in 1936, and again in 1938, he served as Speaker pro tem. of the House and Republican Floor Leader in the 93rd General Assembly. Of his work in the Legislature, The Coshocton Tribune said, "Mr. McGregor's vigorous, forthright activity is justifying the faith of those who voted for him."

Voters in the 17th Ohio District now have the duty of filling a vacancy in the national House of Representatives. Ohio needs in Congress an outspoken, patriotic citizen like J. Harry McGregor. It is his nature to think straight. He is no rubber stamp. When his conscience says "No"—he will vote NO. He will serve in the nation as he has served in the state. Make sure of his nomination in the Primary on February 6th and his election on February 27th.

Endorsed by the Coshocton County Republican Central and Executive Committees, December 8, 1939, and by the 17th District Republican Executive Committee at a meeting in Mt. Vernon, January 24, 1940.

Japs to Continue Efforts for U. S. Pact, Envoy Says

ARITA REVEALS NIPPON SEEKS NEW SOURCES

Foreign Minister Declares Japan Doesn't Intend to Infringe on Rights.

(By International News Service)

TOKYO — Japan will continue its efforts to conclude a new commercial treaty with the United States replacing the accord which expired Jan. 26. Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita told the Japanese diet (parliament) today.

There has been no practical change in trade relations between the two countries, although these now operate on a day-to-day basis, he said, adding:

"On the other hand, in December the United States government took steps internally to accord Japanese ships and goods and the same treatment after the lapse of the treaty as before.

"They also declared their intention to make no change in the treatment of Japanese subjects residing in or entering the United States as treaty merchants."

The foreign minister flatly denied that Japan intends to "eliminate legitimate rights and interests of the United States, or those of any third power, in China."

"Instead," he declared, "we invite their active participation in the construction of a new order in east Asia. . . . We propose to exert further efforts in the confident hope that Japanese-American relations will be restored to a normal status, that is to say, on a treaty basis."

Arita also revealed that the Japanese government is seeking commercial treaties with other countries, including Soviet Russia, France, Italy and India. In addition, he said, several Central and South American countries have been approached.

"We are anxious to see the development of China's trade with other powers and welcome foreign investment in China as these investments are of purely economic character," he declared.

"Negotiations for a commercial treaty with the Soviet Union are now in progress in Moscow and we are looking forward to satisfactory culmination of the negotiations."

Arita expressed belief the European war will bring about drastic changes in Europe and that "its effect on settlement of the China affairs and stabilization of east Asia are likely to be tremendous."

"The government," he added, while watching the development of the war with grave concern, is determined, however, to take appropriate steps to meet any changes in the situation."

WRITER JAILED

Adela Rogers St. Johns Faces Drunken Driving Charge.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Adela Rogers St. Johns, the writer, turned taxicab driver for a few minutes in the wee hours today, but the experience landed her in the clink.

Patrolman Harper Kitching, who arrested her, said this is what happened:

She got into a cab in Manhattan and told the driver, Benjamin Rosenfeld, she wanted to go "out to Long Island." They started out, but when Rosenfeld asked her where precisely she wanted to go she refused to give him a definite answer, so he pulled up to a curb in Long Island City and went into a store to telephone.

Adela got out of the cab, jumped behind the wheel of another, the motor of which was running, and drove off just as the cab's driver, Francis D'Aiello, ran up.

She was booked on charges of driving while intoxicated, driving without an operator's license and passing a red light.

TAYLOR WARNS LIQUOR PERMIT HOLDERS TO STAY WITHIN LAW

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS—Complaining that infractions of the state liquor control law persist despite efforts of the liquor department to curb them, Liquor Director Jacob B. Taylor sent a letter to all permit-holders today, warning that full compliance with the law will be exacted from them.

Pledging fair, honest and equitable treatment, the director pointed out that complete observance of the state law must be forthcoming to avoid criticism from the general public of the sale of legal beverages.

Heretofore, the immediate objective of the liquor department, Taylor said, was to enforce the statute relating to sale after hours, sale on Sundays, and sale to minors.

Enforcement of these provisions will not be relaxed, he continued, but the scope of enforcement is being extended to other provisions. These include: The bans on gambling where liquor, beer or wine is dispensed; on deals whereby distillers, brewers or distributors furnish permit-holders money for equipment or pay permit fees; on the same agencies having a concealed financial interest in retail establishments, and on rebates.

Taylor urged permit-holders to become familiar with each provision of the law governing their business, pointing out that the surest way to retain a permit is to strictly observe the statutes.

The bids were opened yesterday by the board of control which is comprised of Mayor William J. Locke and Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton who said it probably would be several days before contracts are awarded.

Crafton said that five bids were disqualified yesterday because they had been accompanied by a check drawn on a bank from outside the state of Ohio.

OHIO PASTORS END CONVENTION

Conclude Session After Eddy Tells Them Religion's Key to 'Warless World.'

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Ohio pastors concluded their annual convention today after hearing Sherwood Eddy of New York, author and lecturer, declare that religion was the only foundation on which to build "a new warless world."

Referring to widespread unemployment in a nation boasting "three families of billionaires and many multi-millionaires," Eddy remarked:

"I am afraid we are living in a pluto-democracy with little justice."

"We are drifting blindly toward the abyss of a world war and we seem to be as blind as bats to the evils of our own country," he continued. "We must strive to build a new and better—a warless world—and only a dynamic and vital, individual and social religion can do it."

John L. Lewis, CIO president, told the convention "bread comes before culture, liberty and the church."

"Before a man can properly worship God, he must eat," Lewis said. "The well being of people must be cared for before the unfortunate can be good Christians."

Lewis said German youth followed Hitler because he promised them bread, adding that labor and the church must cooperate to find jobs for 600,000 high school graduates.

The convention adopted resolutions opposing theater "bank nights" and criticizing the movie industry for "ignoring its social responsibilities."

ORSON WELLES DIVORCED

GIRL AT THE FRONT + + + + +

By ROB EDEN

(Copyright 1940)

CHAPTER XIV

It was 9 o'clock when Claire finished her simple breakfast She turned again down Jaeger strasse and walked slowly to Frau Weber's shop.

The door was unlocked this time, and as she opened it a small bell tinkled overhead The girl looked curiously around but so far as she could see it was nothing more than it pretended to be—a small shop where newspapers and magazines were sold The store was neatly arranged, and the floor was spotlessly clean.

In a case toward the front of the shop were displayed dozens of photographs and colored lithographs of Hitler and when a short, rather heavy-set woman approached from the back and inquired if she could serve her, Claire bought a small photograph of Der Fuehrer.

"I'd also like a copy of the Tageblatt," she told the woman in German

As the paper was handed to her, Claire, her heart racing inquired in a low voice "Am I speaking to Frau Weber?"

The woman, whose deep-set eyes had seemed a dull brown at first glance, eyed the girl closely for a minute and Claire saw a sudden lively interest reflected in her face

"Yes. And who might you be?" she asked.

For answer, Claire dug into her purse and produced the key "Z Y." had given her and repeated his message for Cameron Frau Weber seemed to understand the meaning of "Z. Y.'s" instructions

As she turned to make change for the girl's mark note, Claire heard the front door of the shop open and hastily turned her back, pretending to be interested in the headlines of the paper she had just bought.

Frau Weber went forward at once to greet the man and Claire stole a glance in his direction and almost collapsed

* * *

The man was George Roland who had been introduced to her three nights ago in Paris as an American importer! Later she had gone with him and his wife and the others to Maria Herczek's flat!

What was he doing here? Frightened, Claire shrank into a corner Suppose he should turn and recognize her? What could she say?

Perhaps he would denounce her as a spy! Run to the door and shout for the police!

Roland was addressing Frau Weber in a low tone, and although Claire caught an occasional word she could not make out what he was saying He was speaking German, very good German, and speaking very rapidly

As Claire glanced out of the corner of her eyes, Frau Weber answered Roland, he nodded and then walked back through the store, opened a door and disappeared Claire breathed a sigh of relief, he hadn't looked in her direction Apparently he hadn't even noticed there was any one else in the shop

When she was sure he wasn't coming right back, she came out of the corner and spoke to Frau Weber again The woman seemed slightly nervous With frequent glances toward the back of the shop, she told Claire in a low tone she had better go away

"It will be all right to return at 5 this afternoon," she said "I would advise you to keep off the streets—don't go into any place where there is any danger of being recognized.

Claire wanted to ask a hundred questions, questions about Roland, about Cameron, but Frau Weber had so obviously been upset by the sudden appearance of Roland that she decided she had better take her advice and clear out The questions could wait until later

"Is there a church nearby?" Clire asked. "That would be a good place for me to keep off the streets without being questioned"

Frau Weber nodded her black head quickly and gave the girl rapid directions.

Carefully walking eastward several blocks, and north a block without seeming to be in too great a hurry. Claire made her way towards Hedwig Church She had chosen a church instead of a railway station as she reasoned that members of the Gestapo—Hitler's greatly feared secret police—undoubtedly kept a close watch on all public gathering places She must not attract attention must avoid any suspicious move, or she would certainly be closely questioned

Thinking this as she walked, her strained nerves became jumpy. Her thoughts went back to George Roland Why had he gone to Frau Weber's shop? Why was he in Berlin? Where did he go when he left Frau Weber's? Perhaps he had noticed her and would notify the police

Her guess in regard to Hedwig church was entirely correct. The door, when she pushed it, swung open, and she slowly entered the dimly lit interior and found a seat in a high-backed pew If she were quiet, she might reasonably expect to stay here as long as she wished without interference. Gradually her active mind became calmer and she was glad she had sought a church as a hiding place. She had been raised in the church herself, and firmly believed the basic doctrines of Christianity. Perhaps, unconsciously, that was why her thoughts first turned to a church as a place of refuge When she reasoned it out, it seemed the sensible thing to do

There were no lights on in the church, the only illumination coming from the rays of the sun streaming through the stained glass windows.

After she had been there some time and her eyes had become accustomed to the dimness, she made out several other worshipers seated in pews, their heads barely showing above the backs of the high seats. An hour or more after she had entered, she saw the bent figure of an old man moving slowly down the aisle, and watched curiously as he painfully climbed the steps to the organ loft

In the silence of the church, she could hear the old man fumbling with the stops on the organ, and then it suddenly pealed forth in an air that seemed strangely foreign to the peace and quiet of the house of worship. It was the "Horst Wessel," the anthem of the Nazi party, and Claire shivered and shrunk down in her seat as the stirring melody filled the huge structure It seemed to echo and reverberate as it struck the walls, intensifying the sound until it was almost unbearable.

It finally came to an end just when Claire thought she could stand no more of it and was about to risk everything by fleeing out into the street.

When he had finished, the aged organist turned and looked around for several minutes, seeming to search out every face of the half dozen or so persons within the edifice and at last, as though satisfied, he turned again to the organ and began to play.

These were sacred songs he played now, playing softly with a touch that made the instrument whisper the melodies. And well they might be whispered, for they had been written by Mendelssohn, Handel, and other famous composers whose genius had brought glory to Germany in the past but whose works were now strictly verboten.

The music soothed the girl's jangled nerves and for a time she forgot who she was and where she was. These actualities did not come swarming back again until the spell of the magic had been dispelled, when the organist suddenly opened all the stops and roared out with "Deutschland Ueber Alles," and then turned and hobbled out of the church. It was a concession he apparently made to any spies who might be listening for the treasonable note of any non-Aryan tune, ready to denounce even a crippled old man if they could prove anything against him.

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood They help most people pass about 3 pints a day

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

New Method to Reduce Requires Five Meals a Day

NEW YORK—(NS)— A new reducing formula that will take four pounds a day (every fourth or fifth day) off the weight of any person while allowing bread, potatoes and chocolate in the diet, is claimed by Erno Laszlo, slimming specialist of Budapest.

Laszlo, who has been associated with the Elizabeth Royal Hungarian University of Medical Science, branded "the medieval pains of dieting" as a thing of the past.

Exactly what his method involves, beyond "a harmless formula, long used in Europe," Laszlo refused to divulge, but the regime is known to require five meals a day with no foods barred.

The American woman is the ideal of the European in everything except her backward beauty methods, Laszlo said. Crank diets and drastic food fads of all descriptions are laughed at in Europe although slenderness is as eagerly sought there as in New York or Hollywood.

Georgia is the largest state east of the Mississippi river.

Books For Children

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

Stories of Quaker children will be displayed this week in the children's room. Both of the books are new to the library. The first one is meant for young readers ten or eleven years of age, but the other one will be enjoyed most by junior high girls.

LITTLE GREY GOWN, by Mabel Leigh Hunt—Libby Ann was just a little girl in a Quaker settlement. She wanted most of all to have a red dress, but that would have been much too gay. So the first wool from her pet lamp was made into a grey dress with red buttons. Can you imagine why she would decide after all not to keep the dress for herself?

HANNAH COURAGEOUS, by Laura Long Hannah was a Quaker girl too but she was twelve years old. Her brother was one of the boys who helped slaves to escape by means of the underground railroad. If Hannah had not been brave her family would have been punished several times for helping slaves. Hannah could draw very well and one Negro was identified by slavers from a picture which she drew of him.

Hitler Expects 100-Year Peace After This War

MUNICH (NS) "The Fuehrer is firmly convinced that there will be at least a century without bloody fighting for the world after this war is over," asserted the Reich Minister of Education, Bernhard Rust, in a recent address to scientists from all parts of Germany.

"During that century of peace, Germany will be able to carry out her reconstruction program in greatest style in closest cooperation with science."

"Today," the minister declared, "Germany not only needs fighters in arms but also excellent scientists as fighters in spirit. The Four Year Plan inaugurated by Hitler called the Scientific Academies to the front and thus the work by 15,000 German university professors has become most vital for Germany's future.

"An efficient and capable new generation of scientists must now be trained. All efforts must be bent to solve the tasks imposed upon German science, the level of which must not be lowered under any circumstances. Especially now, German science has to work intensively on improving German arms equipment."

Congress Economy Bloc Gets Test Of Strength Today

FARM LEADERS FIGHT TO GET CUT RESTORED

Charge $154,000,000 Slash Discriminates Against Nation's Farmers.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—The congressional economy campaign met its biggest test in the house today as the farm bloc fought to restore part of the $154,000,000 slashed from the agricultural supply bill by the appropriations committee.

While leaders of the group expressed willingness to accept "reasonable economy," they charged the huge reduction was a discrimination against the farmers.

The measure was reduced 47 per cent under last year's appropriation, which totaled $1,301,340,315, and 20 per cent under budget recommendations of President Roosevelt. The biggest fights centered on a reduction of $25,000,000 in farm tenancy funds, and $47,975,000 for payment of benefits under the sugar act.

Funds totaling $72,000,000 for removal of surplus crops and for the food stamp plan, leaders admitted, cannot be restored to the measure under house rules. This fight must be transferred to the senate. The bill also omits $225,000,000 for farm parity prices. The fight for this may also be shifted to the senate.

Attack Reductions.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and E. A. O'Neal, president, American Farm Bureau federation, assailed reductions made in the bill. O'Neal branded the action of the appropriations committee as "short-sighted economy."

"Farmers are deeply conscious of the dangers of an unbalanced budget," said O'Neal. "They want a balanced budget, of course, but they believed in balancing it in a constructive way, by taking steps which will raise the national income to a figure at which it can be balanced."

Rep. Clarence Cannon (D) Missouri and Everett Dirksen (R) Illinois, lead the fight for the reductions.

Women Voters To Call On Nominees To Present Views

The Mansfield League of Women Voters, organized last month, will swing into action immediately after the special primaries next week, with plans for a public meeting at which both candidates for congressman from the 17th district will be asked to present their views on pending legislation.

This action was decided upon last night when the executive board of the league met at the home of Mrs. Kathryne Bancroft, Park avenue west. Meeting with members were Miss Ruth Cole, Cincinnati, executive secretary of the Ohio league, and Mrs. Frederick Grover, Oberlin, member of the state board.

The public meeting is planned, according to Mrs. Bancroft, on the league's non-partisan principle that all candidates should be presented to all voters irrespective of party affiliations.

Among the immediate activities of the league for its own members will be an educational program which will embrace a study of legislation pending in congress in which the league is interested, and a "Know Your City" program. Under the latter, the members of the league will study every phase of Mansfield's operations in government, education, courts and jury service, recreation, public health and welfare work.

Floyd Million, Mansfield high wrestling coach, was in somewhat of a quandary today. His team's match with Cuyahoga Falls has been changed so often that there is some doubt in his mind when it will be staged. First it was scheduled for tonight at the high school, then it was shifted to the Y. M. C. A. mat and later it was rescheduled for the high school. According to the latest word from the high school, it was to be held this afternoon in the Tygers' gym. But Million had his fingers crossed.

The kids out on Crouse street last night weren't taking any chances when they got together and decided to coast on the hill that runs from West First street to Glessner avenue. They rolled some heavy logs out into the street at Glessner avenue but after an irate motorist called police, Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton ordered barricades and lanterns placed at the intersection.

Former Nebraska Governor Says State Failed to Recognize Cattle Land.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Sam R. McKelvie, Nebraska cattleman and former governor, declared today that dust storms in the sandhills area of his state resulted from failure to recognize the land as "cattle country."

In an address prepared for a Farmers' Week audience at Ohio State university, McKelvie asserted "the Nebraska sandhills region is incomparable as a cattle country."

"God intended the terrain there to be left green side up, and these who violated that rule saw their land wafted away on the wings of the wind," he said.

The former governor is owner of the "By-The-Way Ranch" at Wood Lake, Neb., and president of the Sandhills Feeder Cattle producers, Valentine, Neb.

"Perhaps the time I spent in politics caused me the more to seek the company of contented cows," he commented.

McKelvie said cattle breeding required "discriminating study."

"There is a royal road to greatness in the purebred business but it is not found by the breeder who looks at the pedigree without regard to the animal."

Louis J. Taber, master of the National grange, and Wheeler McMillen, president of the National Farm Chemurgic council, were other speakers on today's grange day program.

Sandusky Youth Killed, Friend Hurt in Crossing Mishap.

SANDUSKY—(AP)—Frank L. Merett, 20, was killed and Gilbert Harple, 20, injured seriously as their car crashed into the caboose of a Nickel Plate freight train at a grade crossing on route 4, nine miles south of here, shortly before midnight. Both youths are from Sandusky.

R. E. Conner, state highway patrolman, said the caboose was knocked off the track by the impact.

DEMANDS SECRECY LIFTED FROM 'PLOT TO KILL' DIES INQUIRY

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Charging that high government officials were involved in the plot to "discredit and kill" the Dies committee, Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R) New Jersey, today demanded that the committee make public the testimony taken in recent secret sessions.

The testimony related to documents alleged to have been forged and used by Rep. Hook (D) Michigan, in a speech in the house seeking to link Chairman Martin Dies with the "Christian Front" and "Silver Shirts" organizations.

"I am more convinced than ever that the large majority of the documents in this attack on Dies are forged," said Thomas. "I am further convinced that this is just a small part of a widespread plot on the part of some well known people, some holding high federal positions, to smear the Dies committee and influence the house to stop its investigation into un-American activities."

The committee, in two days of hearings behind closed doors, heard David Mayne, one-time agent of William Dudley Pelley, "Silver Shirt" leader, testify that he forged letters designed to show a link between Dies and Pelley. It heard Harold Weisberg, former employe of the La Follette senate civil liberties committee, admit that he paid Mayne $105 for documents, but refused to admit that they were forgeries. It also heard Gardner Jackson, legislative agent of Labor's Nonpartisan league, testify that he supplied the $105. John Mitchell Henshaw, a newspaper man, was another witness at the committee's secret session.

Weisberg and Jackson frankly told of the purchase of documents from Mayne. They said that he had given them affidavits attesting the genuineness of the signature of William Dudley Pelley to the letters.

Hook also maintained that the documents were genuine. He said that Mayne had been employed by Rep. Voorhis (D) California, chairman of a Dies sub-committee, and was sent to Asheville, N. C., in a supposed effort to serve a subpoena on Pelley. The department of justice, Hook asserted, will examine the documents furnished by Mayne.

JURY RELEASES 6 OTHERS AFTER 11-WEEK TRIAL

Panel Disagrees on Testimony in $1,200,000 Swindle After Deliberating 44 Hours.

(By United Press)

CINCINNATI—A new trial appeared possible today for four of the 10 defendants in the Arlington cemetery lot fraud trial upon whose guilt or innocence a federal court jury could not agree. The six other defendants on trial were acquitted.

After deliberating 44 hours and 15 minutes the jury of 12 men reported failure to agree in the cases of Dr. J. Stewart Hagen, Attorney Stewart S. Cooper, and Alfred Lefeber, Cincinnati Republican leaders, and W. H. Schulte, of Cincinnati.

The jury freed Charles Eisen, Gordon E. Lawrence, and Harry B. Nedelman, all of Cincinnati; John E. Bernstein, and William B. Woodring, all of Cleveland.

The defendants were indicted for alleged conspiracy and use of the mails to defraud in connection with the sale of burial lots in Arlington cemetery here. The government had charged that investors in several states had been defrauded of some $1,2000,000 by promoters and salesmen of the Arlington cemetery organization. Investors testified that they turned over other securities and were assured large returns on their investments in burial lots.

Judge Mac Swineford, after the jury reported, did not set a date for the sentencing of Morton Gilbert, Cincinnati promoter, now ill in a hospital, who had pleaded guilty after first defending himself on a not guilty plea. Gilbert is under sentence in another cemetery lot case.

The trial was the longest ever conducted in the federal district court here. It lasted almost 11 weeks.

When indictments were returned last June, 53 defendants were named. One died while the inquiry was in progress. Thirty pleaded guilty. One was dismissed; two won separate trials and one is yet to be arraigned. The others are still at large.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Scalese's Union Turns Down His Offer to Quit —With Word of Reproof

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—The executive board of the Building Service Employes International Union has refused to accept the resignation of George Scalese, who muscled into the presidency of this organization after repeal diverted the survivors of the Capone mob from bootlegging to the labor ticket.

This vote of forgiveness and confidence followed the disclosure of the fact that William Green, the president of the American Federation of Labor, indorsed a petition for a presidential pardon for Scalese on file at the federal department of justice.

Mr. Scalese reproved those who revealed the fact that he had served four years in Atlanta for the crime of white slavery and said he had put in 27 years of labor in an endeavor to "attain success not only for himself but for humankind."

The judge who sentenced Scalese to prison for exploiting a young girl for money said the testimony was nauseating and gave him an unusually long sentence for that reason, but the reference to Scalese's endeavors "for humankind" is no less revolting.

Scalese has not been a laborer; he has been an associate of gangsters and bootleggers, and he is now engaged in an attempt to muscle out of the union the president of an old established local in San Francisco, Charles Hardy, jr., on the ground, among others, that Hardy disseminated "false, malicious propaganda" castigating officers of the international.

The propaganda described as false and malicious consisted of the same information that has been proved against Scalese, namely, that he was convicted of pandering, or, in the term used by the federal courts, white slavery. Hardy denies that he was responsible for the distribution of the pedigree of the racketeer who took over an important unit of the American Federation of Labor, but that makes no difference.

The fact remains that this distinguished colleague of William Green has had the gall to remove a man on such grounds from the presidency of a local union of which he was one of the founders.

The propaganda was not false, and the question whether it was malicious is debatable, because it is not unreasonable to argue that the person who brought Scalese's character into question before the union members had the decent motive of driving out racketeers, a task which William Green has not undertaken.

Instead of doing anything to rebuke this dictatorial attempt to destroy dissenters, Mr. Green has given the weight and prestige of his office to an attempt to increase Scalese's power.

Up to this time Scalese does not possess the right even to vote or hold the most inconsequential public office, but Green supports his rule as international president of one of the biggest unions in the American Federation of Labor at a moment when Scalese is passing an economic death sentence of an old-time union man whose character cannot possibly suffer by comparison with his own.

The other charges against Hardy have to do with the financial affairs of his union, but even on that score it would be much more pertinent and important to provide a full, thorough accounting of the funds of the international. Hardy insists that no accounting has ever been made since Scalese muscled in and that Scalese refused even to tell members of the locals how much salary he draws as president.

The federal bureau of investigation has information on Scalese, and the police of New York, particularly those of Brooklyn, and the Chicago police are well acquainted with him and his associates in the labor racket.

So Mr. Green now has an excellent opportunity to call for a public hearing as to the worthiness of his esteemed colleague to rule a big labor union, with the power to expel from office and permanently blackball from employment men who have the temerity to recall his criminal past.

Having convinced himself of Scalese's character, Mr. Green should not merely consent to but, for labor's own sake, to which he is always so touchingly loyal, should demand an examination of Scalese's career since he finished his prison term.

Scalese's executive board reports with pride that the membership has been raised from 19,000 to 70,000 in five years. That might only mean, however, that thousands of nominally free American citizens have been racketeered into a union and compelled to pay tribute to a white slaver for the right to work, but with no right to ask what is done with their money.

It will be noticed that there is no pretense that the rank and file were invited to vote on Scalese's fitness for office. He got his vote of confidence from his international executive board in a sudden, secret meeting in Chicago.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—A plugged nickel for their thoughts: Josef von Sternberg's after seeing Dietrich in "Destry Rides Again." . . . Lee Tracy's after the preview of "His Girl Friday," in which a "newspaperman" named Rosalind Russell plays the Hildy Johnson role Lee created on stage in "The Front Page." . . . Pat O'Brien's ditto, because he did Hildy on screen. . . . Mrs. Temple's on hearing that Mickey Rooney was new "king of the box-office," which was ruled by a little queen the past four years—but whatever the first thought here, you can bet your nickel (unplugged) that the second thoughts were sensible . . . . All those people's —the ones who said that Ernst Lubitsch had lost the "touch" and was finished; the ones who thought "Gone" would be a flop and "Of Mice and Men" would be a weakling and "The Grapes of Wrath" wouldn't be released . . .

Until I saw Cliff Edwards in a movie (all of him) the other night I'd begun to think the ukulele kid was retiring to status of a mere voice . . . . The mouthpiece of Jiminy Crickets in "Pinocchio" and that superbly done voice from the deathbed in "Gone," all the more effective because the speaker was unseen. . . .

Speaking of "Gone" has anyone observed that the place where the film really broke a record was Atlanta? Saw an inept newsreel record of the gala goings-on down there at the opening, and what does it show but the customers (Atlanta) paying free sets of duties (let's call 'em) to the stars? Same rock-bound Carole Lombard giving her sincerest performance with "merely Mrs. Gable—it's his show."

Sneak preview reports on "Young Thomas Edison" point to a sock reversal for any opinions that young Mickey Rooney is just a clever kid with a full bag of tricks . . . They say he doesn't play Mickey Rooney at all, and he really acts . . . The box-office "king" title, of course, isn't going to make Mickey any chestier — nothing could' . . .

Look for Rosalind Russell to make the big stride up the glamor-ladder this year—still photos of her in earlier films look like a poor relation of today's model . . .

Norman Krasna, describing Deanna Durbin's actress-mother in "It Happened in Kaloha," wrote: "She is Hayes and Cornell except that she sings . . ." They cast Kay Francis, who doesn't sing, either . . . But Kay is right at home in mother parts, and this looks like a good one, minus all the sticky maternal goo that marked her bow-out from stardom . . . Deanne plays her own age, again, and that famous first kiss of "First Love" is going to be overshadowed . . . . First scene of this one shows Deanna being smothered with kisses—but it's just play-acting . . . .
